

Rupprecht Seeks To Regain Throne Of Wittelsbachs

Impatience of Royalist Hot-Heads Likely to Upset Willy Preparations of Old Statesmen.

COUP IS PREMATURE, DECLARE OBSERVERS

Marx and Stresmann Fully Informed of Plot and Are Ready to Quash Attempt If Made.

BY ERIC KEYSER.

Berlin, November 7.—Hot-heads among the Bavarian monarchists are again rousing the ghost of the Wittelsbach dynasty in an effort to restore Rupprecht, prince royal of the ancient house, to the position that his ancestors held in Bavaria from the time of the first duke in 907 A. D. to the fall of the Hohenzollerns and their dependent kings in 1918.

It is rumored that the monarchist clique hopes to force Rupprecht to seize power before the elections next month. They realize that republican sentiment is waxing in Germany now and that the kingless system of government will gain supporters at the polls.

Less rabid monarchists among Rupprecht's followers believe their leader would be wise to delay his coup for a decade or so during which time republicanism will have had a thorough trial and its disabilities revealed.

Wilhelmstrasse Watchful. Some concern at the reports from Bavaria is evident at the Wilhelmstrasse, the broad street where Germany's foreign business is transacted and where many of the other government departments are located.

Government leaders are prepared to act with energy if a Bavarian monarchist coup advances beyond the stage of mere rumor and Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresmann are keeping themselves fully informed regarding the monarchist party in the great south German state.

Although the imminent elections undoubtedly will bring a further repulse for those Germans who hope to restore the pompous circumstance of royalty, the monarchists are willing to abide by the mature judgment of the nation and particularly of the Bavarian state.

Willy Owens Would Wait.

When the republic has become old and abuses develop in its administration of the government, these wily old monarchists who hope to restore the pompous circumstance of royalty, the monarchists are willing to abide by the mature judgment of the nation and particularly of the Bavarian state.

A monarchist coup at this time find not only the Bavarian monarchists and communists willing to fight to defeat it, but the fascists as well. These latter want a united Germany and they know that Bavaria's satellite states in the south are not ready to go back to the old order. The hoped-for reunion of Germany and Austria could not take place if Rupprecht seized power in Bavaria.

With these local forces to combat as well as opposition from the rest of Germany it is unlikely that Rupprecht will follow the advice of his impatient followers, but his refusal to act at this time would mean merely that he thinks the time has not come—not that it will not come.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS BAN PUBLIC USE OF POWDER PUFFS

Asheville, N. C., November 7.—Girl students of the Asheville High school at a meeting of the Students' club today, in a resolution almost unanimously passed, promised "not to powder or primp in public, either at school or outside of school."

The girls called upon the girls of all other schools of the state to discontinue the practice of "powdering their noses in public" and urged them to "return to the ways of our mothers and grandmothers."

CURTIS OF KANSAS SLATED FOR SHOES OF SENATOR LODGE

Borah Progressives Will Control Next Senate and Decide Fate of Coolidge Policies.

LA FOLLETTE MAY LOSE RANK AS REPUBLICAN

Irreconcilables Not Likely To Lose Control of Foreign Relations. Smith Seems Doomed.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, November 7.—From a study of the personnel of the new congress, it appears that the balance of power has shifted from La Follette to Borah and a group of milder progressives.

This group will include Capper, of Kansas; Hiram Johnson, of California; Couzens, of Michigan; Howell, of Nebraska; McNary, of Oregon; Norbeck and McMaster, of South Dakota, and several others.

Coolidge will be at the mercy of this circle, rather than of the La Follette group, as in the present congress. These mild progressive senators are all republicans in good party standing. They dissent on occasion, but go along in the real sense. They stood with the administration rather than with La Follette in the campaign, though some of them have the insurgent leader assistance on various roll calls in the last session.

Regulars Control House. Coolidge has a clear working majority of about twenty in the house and should have little trouble there. In the senate his problem will be to hold the wild progressives in line. As long as he can do this, La Follette will have little strength.

Of this group which has suddenly come into power, Borah is the logical leader. His prestige, always great, now still greater, will become even more marked should Senator Lodge fail to recover from his grave illness. Lodge is chairman of the foreign relations committee and under the seniority custom Borah will succeed to that powerful post.

It is hardly likely, however, that Borah will inherit the leadership of the senate when Lodge lays it down. That post involves a type of activity and a degree of regularity which would be irksome to a man of Borah's independence. Curtis, of Kansas, is more likely to be the real administration leader, though some one else may get the title.

Borah Is Power in Judiciary. Borah is also in line for the chairmanship of the judiciary committee through the death of Brandegee. He is interested in a measure to require a two-thirds decision by the supreme court on questions of constitutionality. But he probably would rather be chairman of the foreign relations committee despite his interest in this judicial question.

The power of the mild progressives will not only be felt when the critical roll-calls come on the floor, but it will be felt in the powerful committees where the real work of law-making is done. In the agriculture committee, the administration will have to deal with two important groups, either of which, by an alliance with the democrats, could control the committee. La Follette has on this committee, Chairman Norris and Ladd. The mild progressives have Capper, McNary and Norbeck.

BURNS MAY PROVE FATAL TO BABY

3-Year-Old Girl Near Death at Grady Hospital From Playing With Matches.

Vivian Brown, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown, of 254 McDough road, hovered near death at Grady hospital Friday night from burns received when her clothing caught fire Friday night.

After the flames, which enveloped the tot, had been put out, she was hurried to Grady hospital where physicians pronounced her burns very serious. Her life was despaired of, physicians stated.

The little girl, it is believed, got hold of some matches and accidentally ignited them. Valiant efforts were made by the child's parents to extinguish the flames, but the burns were received before they were successful.

Lodge Holds Fast To Life Thread

Aged Senator Rallies Slightly But Physician Says Condition Still Is Grave.

Cambridge, Mass., November 7.—The condition of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, seriously ill at the Charlesgate hospital here, following a paralytic stroke suffered Wednesday, was described as unchanged in a bulletin issued by Dr. John H. Cunningham and Frederick Winslow, his attending physicians, late Friday night.

"No important change. No loss of ground during the day," the bulletin said.

The physicians, however, are encouraged by the fact that the senator regained consciousness for short periods during the afternoon, the first time he had been conscious since Wednesday noon, and are spending the night at the hospital in an effort to save the life of the noted statesman.

Dr. Cunningham said that as a result of the amount of nourishment they had been able to administer to the patient during the day he looked for a marked improvement Saturday.

He explained, however, that Senator Lodge is still "very gravely ill" and that "his chances to recover are very uncertain."

Connecticut Ex-Treasurer, Defaulting Cashier Goes At Once To Hospital Blind, Enters Prison Here

There was a clicking of locks and swinging of doors at the Atlanta Federal prison Friday night, an exchange of papers between officers, a brief "Goodby and God bless you"—and G. Harold Gilpatrick, former treasurer of the state of Connecticut and defaulting cashier of the First National bank of Putnam, Conn., passed behind the cold, gray walls to serve his fifteen-year sentence.

The feet of Gilpatrick had to be carried into the great building, as the prisoner is totally blind. The bullet that he sent crashing into his head failed to produce its intended result, death, but it served to cut off all future vision from the man who sought to enshroud his heavy defalcations by the veil of death.

Gilpatrick will be given an opportunity to learn a new trade, if he so chooses, according to prison officials. He was placed directly in the hospital after he reached the prison. He will be permitted to remain there indefinitely. If he wishes, a teacher trained in tutoring blind pupils will attend to him there.

The class in which Gilpatrick may study his new mode of expression will be small. There is only one other blind prisoner at the institution. Should the former Connecticut state treasurer prefer to remain idle instead of taking up work as a student, no effort will be made to induce him otherwise, prison officials stated.

Gilpatrick was silent during the drive from the station to the prison and he was equally silent as the great doors closed behind him.

COMMUNITY CHEST FUND IS NEARING HALF-WAY MARK

Total of $353,956 of $795,000 Goal Reported at Meeting of Workers Friday.

With $353,956 in hand of the total fund of $795,000, Atlanta's Community Chest campaign moved Saturday to 44 1/2 per cent of the fund that must be raised before next Wednesday night.

When the daily report meeting at the Kimball adjourned Friday, not to assemble again until Monday at 12:30, the city of Atlanta had added $75,000, matching Fulton county's $75,000 gift previous reported.

Chairman Eugene R. Black declared the question of holding a report luncheon Saturday had been seriously discussed by the committee, which had decided campaigners are entitled to their Saturday afternoon half-holiday.

Asks for Work Sunday. "I want you boys to lay off when the whistle blows for 12 o'clock tomorrow and go and do anything you want for the rest of the day. But bright and early Sunday morning, I want every last one of you to get back on the job in earnest and stay with it all day. And then I am going to look for every single man to get down to business on the home stretch."

Sunday will be "Community Chest Sunday" in Atlanta, with special sermons on charity and the chest in practically all churches. Several four-minute speakers have been assigned by the speakers' bureau of the chest, directed by Chairman Marvin Underwood. Chest campaign literature and posters will be distributed in a number of the churches.

The $75,000 gift from the city was practically assured Friday when the finance committee of the city council recommended that the present council appropriate that amount in drafting the January finance sheet. The city gave $50,000 to the chest this year.

Bible Class Gives $250. Mr. Black said he attended a meeting of the Men's Bible class of the Second Baptist church, and the class voted to give $250 to the chest, in addition to the individual gifts of its members.

"I am just putting that to every church in Atlanta and every Sunday school organization," he added. "If the First Baptist men's class doesn't go and do likewise, I am going to join the Second Baptist church. I'll join the church that gives the most."

Mr. Black announced another gift of $250 from Piedmont Lodge of Masons, stating that the lodge challenged every other lodge in Atlanta to measure up.

W. W. Waites immediately accepted for Capital City Lodge of Masons, and other acceptances from other Masonic lodges and other fraternal organizations.

Power Company Gives $5,000. Announcement by C. H. Strong, Georgia Railway & Power company representative in the big groups of donors, that he had just one gift, to report, for $5,000, from the power company, brought forth a storm of applause. A number of departments of this company are to report by or before Monday, said Mr. Strong, and he expects most of them to subscribe 100 per cent.

Joe Wolfe, team captain in the section commanded by Julien Boehm, reported Friday $3,234 in new subscriptions, increasing by that figure his previous total, which was $13,361. Mr. Wolfe was one of the star team captains in last year's campaign, and has been singled out by Chairman

Constructive Charity

Giving pennies to beggars is one thing; and preventing beggary is quite another thing. Alms-giving is primitive charity, practiced mostly in those countries and among those peoples that have not yet emerged from middle-age habits. You will find alms-giving a most luxurious growth in the Orient, where professional beggary has been developed through the generations into one of the fine arts.

Here and in other communities that have thought of the matter at all, beggary is coming to be regarded more and more as a vice. It is a habit easily formed and hard to break.

Constructive charity, with which Atlanta in general has had one year of experience under the Community Chest, would take a situation before it reached the point of begging and turn it right around—back toward self-maintenance and self-respect.

Upon this distinction rests the whole contrast between giving money to beggars and giving it to the Community Chest. Community Chest funds are used exclusively for rebuilding, for prevention, for rescue, for repairs. The Community Chest campaign is on now. Now is the time to give—and give big—for this work that must be done.

SPECIAL SESSION OF NEW CONGRESS GETS DISAPPROVAL

Farm Legislation and Annual Appropriation Bills To Be Main Subjects at Short Session.

TAX CUT QUESTION NOT TO BE REOPENED

Reduction Possible But Plans Immature; President Will Study Problem While Congress Works.

Washington, November 7.—President Coolidge does not contemplate, at least for the present, calling the new congress into special session after next March 4, nor does he now expect to present any comprehensive plan of tax reduction to the present congress at the short session which will begin next month.

While house spokesmen, in outlining the president's views today, indicated that farm legislation and the annual appropriation bills would comprise the principal subjects of congressional action at the approaching short session.

Mr. Coolidge today announced the personnel of the agricultural commission he has had in mind for some time, appears today to have gained an additional seat in the house, bringing up their total to 247, or 29 more than a majority.

The upset, in the first Oklahoma district, cut the democratic strength to 182 seats, as against 207 in the present house. On unofficial returns, Wayne Bayless, democrat, was a winner by a scant margin in the Oklahoma district, but the official tabulation showed him 143 votes behind S. J. Montgomery, his republican opponent.

In the fifth Washington district Representative Hill, democrat, maintained a small lead over his republican opponent, with the count practically complete, while Representative Morrow, democrat, representative-at-large from New Mexico, kept to the fore as the tabulation of votes proceeded slowly.

In New Mexico, Senator Bursum, republican, continued to trail Sam G. Bratton, democrat, but President Coolidge maintained a lead over John W. Davis. If final returns show Coolidge a winner in New Mexico, his electoral college total will be 382, as all doubt as to his capturing North Dakota was removed today when the count there was practically complete.

AIR WAR PLANNED IN WEEVIL FIGHT

Fleet of Planes Stationed at Athens May Control Cotton Pest for Georgia Farmers.

Athens, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Success of the airplane dusting demonstration here last summer may lead to the location of a big commercial station in Athens next year, according to Dr. Andrew M. Soule, in a statement issued today. Officials of the state college of agriculture and the Huff-Leland Air corporation, of New York, have been in conference for several days and it is said to be very likely that Athens will become the center of operations for Georgia in the control of the boll weevil by airplane dusting.

The attention of the entire south was focused on Athens last summer when the big dusting demonstration with airplanes was carried on. The success of the experiment created much interest in plane dusting and led to plans now being made to carry on dusting on a commercial basis in this state.

While plans have not been made public, it is reported that all operations will be centered in Athens, with a main repair depot at Southern field at Americus, from which point the dusting in south Georgia will be handled. A fleet of 17 planes will be necessary to carry out the work planned.

Dr. Soule and Professor Campbell, of the state college, and G. H. Post, who was in charge of the planes used here last summer and who now represents the Huff-Leland company in this state, are enthusiastic over the outlook for establishing an airplane cotton dusting center in the state, and in view of the cooperation in the work already established through the recent demonstration here, it is believed that major operations will be carried on from Athens next year.

M'Clain Acquitted Of Owens' Murder At Fair Grounds

SIX COUNCIL BILLS, TWO RESOLUTIONS, VETOED BY MAYOR

Measure, Asking Legislature to Rescind Charter Amendment on School Board Is Among Number

Management of school finances should be changed so that city council will have control over money spent by the board of education, Mayor Walter A. Sims said Friday after he had vetoed a council measure requesting the legislature to rescind a charter amendment passed last year which authorized city council to hold a referendum on the question of giving council control of all school funds.

"I am heartily in favor of holding the election," the mayor continued, "as I think that the system now in use should be changed so that council will have something to say regarding expenditure of school funds. The mayor and general council are charged with raising the money and, under the present system, they have nothing to say concerning its expenditure."

Council Has No Authority. "In addition the charter amendment was passed by the legislature, and in my opinion council has no authority to take any action in the matter."

The resolution, which was introduced jointly by Councilman J. Allen Couch and Alderman Oscar Williamson, was passed by council Monday after a heated debate. The aldermanic board voted concurrence at a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Previous to Friday Mayor Sims had declined to state his views on the referendum, although administration members of council have fought for it since it was first considered.

If the people vote to abolish the present system, expenditure of all funds in Atlanta's school department Continued on Page 7, Column 3.

MEMORIAL COIN DESIGN APPROVED

Minting of 500,000 Stone Mountain Half Dollars Expected to Begin in Short Time.

Washington, D. C., November 7.—(Special.)—Design of the Stone Mountain memorial half dollar finally has been approved by the treasury department, after many hitches and delays, and dies are now being made for the minting of the 500,000 coins at the Philadelphia mint. The first is expected to emerge from the mint in a few days.

On the face of the half dollar will be a relief of Generals Lee and Jackson upon their horses. At the bottom of the coin, and near the horses' feet, will be the words, "Stone Mountain, 1924." On the reverse side of the coin, an eagle will be shown perched on Stone Mountain, with the words, "Memorial to the Valor of the Soldiers of the South."

The word "Georgia" was eliminated from the original design, upon the ground that Stone Mountain is not merely a Georgia landmark, but a national monument.

News that all technicalities with regard to the design of the Stone Mountain half dollar had been removed and that minting of the coins would begin in a short time, was received in Atlanta Friday night with much gratification.

The half million coins, which will be sold at a premium, will be put upon sale simultaneously throughout the United States on January 19, General Lee's birthday. The proceeds will go toward paying the expense of carving the great memorial upon Stone Mountain.

Minting of the half dollars was authorized by special act of congress. Both houses passed the act unanimously.

ZION TABERNACLE RAZED BY FLAMES

Chicago, November 7.—The Zion tabernacle, once occupied by the late Alexander Dowie, and later used as a garage, was destroyed by fire here tonight. The tabernacle, a five-story landmark on South Michigan boulevard, in the heart of automobile row, furnished one of the most spectacular fires seen in Chicago in many months and firemen, summoned by half a dozen special alarms, fought to save the nearby automobile sales and storage rooms. The loss was estimated by fire attorneys at more than $150,000.

Less Than Fifteen Minutes Required by Fulton Jury to Reach Verdict of Not Guilty.

M'CLAIN UNPERTURBED DURING WHOLE TRIAL

Defendant Told Jury Owens Fell Dead at His Feet Without Blow Being Struck.

W. P. McClain was acquitted by a jury in Fulton superior court Friday afternoon of the murder of Theodore Owens.

The jury required less than 15 minutes to return a verdict of not guilty in favor of McClain, who was charged with slaying Owens on the night of October 12 at the Southeastern fair grounds.

The widow of the dead man, dressed in deepest mourning, and apparently overcome with grief, buried her tear-stained face in her hands during the long hours in the court room Friday afternoon as the details of the death of her husband were reviewed by counsel for the state and defense. She did not lift her head until the 12 jurors filed back into the box and prepared to render the verdict.

McClain Unperturbed. McClain received the decision of the jury without any perceptible display of emotion. He remained undisturbed throughout the trial, sitting each day within just a few feet of the widow of the man whom he was charged with murdering.

The verdict was rendered about 5:15 o'clock. As soon as Judge H. D. Thomas finished his charge to the jury, counsel for both sides expressed the belief that an early verdict would be reached, due to the fact that the jurors requested Judge Thomas to charge them as soon as the final argument was concluded, instead of waiting until today.

Arguments of counsel began about 1 o'clock Friday. Robert Jones, defending for the defense, and Paul Capener, special counsel for Mrs. Owens, finishing for the state. John Hunsen represented the solicitor general's office on the state's side.

McClain Denies Murder. McClain, who used his plea of not guilty on the contention that Owens died of heart failure, took the stand Friday morning in his own defense. He recited graphically the details of Owens' death, denying emphatically that he struck Owens at all.

He declared that Owens became angry when he interfered in the altercation between Mrs. Owens and Brown. McClain's companion, and Mrs. Owens. He charged Owens with threatening to blow his brains out. "Mrs. Owens jumped upon the running board of his automobile and reached into the pocket of the door," McClain told the court. "I thought he was getting a pistol for the purpose of making good his threat. I struck him with my fist, but he ducked and my hand crashed into the windshield of his machine. My finger was jammed on Owens."

"I couldn't see whether he had a pistol in his hand or not, but when he fell to the ground, I jumped upon him to save myself. Mrs. Owens was on my back pounding me with all her might. I noticed that McClain was limp, and I did nothing but keep him down until the officer pulled me off."

"Gentlemen," Mr. Owens dropped dead at my feet, or rather, when he fell to the ground, he was dying. Continued on Page 7, Column 4.

Today is the last day of The Atlanta Constitution's elephant figure puzzle contest.

All solutions with subscriptions should be delivered to The Atlanta Constitution office by not later than 9 o'clock tonight, or dropped in the mails by not later than midnight, so as to bear postmark date of November 8. This will give those living outside of Atlanta and in all parts of the territory the same equal chances for mailing the answer and solution.

Any time before midnight tonight will be the same as delivering it to the office of The Constitution by 9 P. M.

Those living in Atlanta and nearby suburbs, if they are unable to come to the office today or tonight, can send their solution by mail, as all answers received by mail will have the same attention and will be on the same equal basis as all those that are delivered to the office in person.

The result of the elephant-adding contest will not be known until the latter part of the coming week, so the result, whatever it may be, will not be announced until Sunday, November 10. All contestants are required to watch for the announcement in that issue.

Under the rules of the contest, should there be a tie, another tie-breaking puzzle chart would be submitted. If there should be any ties, the tie-breaking chart with rules governing same will be printed also in the Sunday issue of November 10, and three charts printed on good paper, together with rules and instructions, will be sent by mail to each contestant who ties. This will be in addition to the chart and instructions printed in The Constitution.

In event that it is necessary to submit charts for tie-breaking, they will be placed simultaneously in the mail to all contestants tying, as next Sunday's issue of the paper containing the result goes to press, placing all on an equal basis.

The most important thing, however, that the management wishes to impress upon those interested in the contest, is to be sure to get their answers in today. Either deliver them in person by 9 o'clock tonight, or put them in the mails by not later than midnight.

JUDGE S. W. STURGIS IMPROVES AFTER FALL

Dublin, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Judge S. W. Sturgis, of Dublin city court, is in an Atlanta hospital with a dislocated shoulder and possible internal injuries received early this week when he fell while hunting near this city. Judge Sturgis was walking through the woods, it is said, when he stumbled over a short log and fell heavily to the ground, the force of the fall dislocating the right shoulder and causing painful lacerations about the head.

For a time it was feared that he had suffered fatal injuries and he was rushed to Atlanta. Late reports indicate that he is improving and that he will return for the December term of court.

ORDER PLANS MADE FOR DALTON DEPOT

Orders were issued by the Georgia public service commission Friday, directing the N. C. & St. L. railroad to file with the commission blue prints and specifications for a new passenger depot at Dalton, Ga. The blue prints and specifications are to be in the hands of the commission within 90 days from date, according to the order.

This action by the commission followed a determined fight put up by the city of Dalton and its citizens for condemnation of the present waiting room. Several hearings have been held and it has been claimed that, besides being totally inadequate for the amount of passenger traffic at that point, the present Dalton depot is dangerously located, as passengers for certain trains are compelled to cross tracks, and in some instances climb between coaches of other trains to reach the waiting room.

The commission also granted the Seaboard Air Line railway permission to revise its passenger train schedules on the Alabama division, between Savannah and Montgomery.

Today, which was agricultural day at the fair, was largely attended. Sam W. Wilkes and Dan H. Upshaw, of the Georgia railroad, and H. A. Burnett, of the L. & N. railroad, were guests of the fair today.

DOMINY FORCED TO DISINTER WIFE

Orlando, Fla., November 7.—A weird story of kidnapping by several unidentified men who brought him here from Georgia in an automobile during the night and compelled him to unearth the coffin of his estranged wife, who died Monday, was related Friday by E. P. Dorniny, 21, a Laurens county, Ga., farmer.

He said that he and his local officers today on charges of non-support of his five-week-old baby. Charges were preferred by R. C. Livingston, his father-in-law. Previously the young Georgia farmer had been wanted for alleged failure to support his 18-year-old wife.

He said that he and three men picked him up at his farm home early Thursday morning, beat him with re-

BIG CORPORATION TO BUY BAKERIES

New York, November 7.—Incorporation of the Continental Baking Corporation, which is expected to be the first step in a huge merger of the United Baking Corporation, the Ward Baking Corporation and other leading organizations in this field was announced today by George G. Barber, an official of the United Baking Corporation, who will assume the chairmanship of the new concern.

Mr. Barber said the concern had been incorporated in Maryland with a capital of 2,000,000 shares of 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 per share, 2,000,000 shares of non-cumulative class A common stock and 2,000,000 shares of class B common stock, the latter stocks without par value. Class A has an 85-year dividend preference over class B, otherwise participating share for share with it, he said.

It was expected, the statement said, "that when the present and immediate program" of the company was completed, the sales of the companies in the merger would produce earnings of $3 a share on the B stock after paying 8 per cent on the preferred and $11 a share on the common A.

"The business of baking bread and cake looms brightly on the horizon of business enterprise," said Mr. Barber. "The merger of these companies because about 50 per cent of all the baked goods consumed in the United States are still baked in the home. This presents opportunities for increased business."

CHARITY INMATES WILL BE GUESTS AT GROTTO CIRCUS

A ray of sunshine will find its way into the lives of many of Atlanta's vast army of unfortunate this afternoon, when crippled soldiers, aged veterans, orphans—in fact, inmates from every charitable institution in the city—will be entertained at the Ararat Grotto Circus with a special matinee performance.

Invitations have been sent to every one of these homes, urging the various heads to arrange for the inmates to take advantage of the matinee, which begins at 2:30 o'clock. Every convenience to insure the comfort of the guests will be made, and every measure to provide an afternoon of fun and thrills will be taken.

The Ararat Grotto circus began a ten-day run at Spiller's park Wednesday night, and will continue through November 15. It boasts many attractions unknown to the ordinary circus.

Russia and Mexico Follow Same Ideal, Asserts Obregon

Mexico City, November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Russia and Mexico are pursuing the same ideal, which is for the betterment of the common people, said President Obregon today to Stanislaus Pestkovsky, in answer to an address of the first Russian soviet minister to Mexico on the presentation of his credentials at the formal resumption of diplomatic relations between Mexico and Russia.

The ceremony, which took place in the national palace in the presence of President Obregon, members of the cabinet, leading politicians and military officers, was featured by the address of M. Pestkovsky. Speaking in English the minister said Russia had been following step by step Mexico's struggle to maintain independence and secure a betterment in the condition of the workers.

The evening M. Pestkovsky addressed a public meeting of workmen at the amphitheater of the National Preparatory school. His text was soviet aims, ideals and accomplishments.

Novel Plea for Release Made CANT EXPLAIN OR JUSTIFY CONDUCT TO COMMISSION By Former Marietta Banker

An application for pardon or parole for A. H. Gilbert, former vice president of the Marietta Banking and Trust company, now serving a sentence of from six to ten years in state prison, after conviction for embezzlement, was heard by the Georgia prison commission Friday.

In his application, which was regarded as one of the most peculiar ever presented to the commission, Gilbert said that he has never been able to reconcile his own conscience to his conduct, hence, he doesn't know how to explain it to your commission.

"I was anxious to provide for the future of my wife and five children," he said, "so I speculated, at first with my own money, and lost. In an effort to recoup these losses, I became desperate and used the bank's money—and lost."

The petition set forth that Gilbert did not drink and was not addicted to any immoral conduct, and that his downfall was solely due to market speculation.

Judge New Morris, of Marietta, presented the petition to the commission and made a plea for clemency for Gilbert, declaring that the former banker had surrendered everything he possessed in an effort to make restitution, leaving his family in need of his services for their support.

Letters were filed from scores of prominent Marietta citizens in support of the plea.

63 ARE VICTIMS OF GAS EXPLOSION

Fall River, Mass., November 7.—Four workmen, employees of the American Printing Company here, were overcome and 53 others were affected when a coupling leading to a high pressure tank containing sulphur dioxide gas burst today, causing a panic among hundreds of operatives in the big factory. All of the 53 persons affected were taken to the company's hospital, and although the four were carried from the building unconscious, all had recovered sufficiently tonight to be taken to their homes.

An official statement from the company's hospital announced the gas, although causing nausea and severe discomfort, does not generally endanger life.

A panic followed the bursting of the connection, which released fumes that penetrated through one entire side of the huge granite structure.

with the probability of getting Shall, of Minnesota, in place of Magnus Johnson, who was defeated. Harold, of Oklahoma, is rather friendly to this group. The white house has only three votes that will stay hitched under all circumstances—Keyes, of New Hampshire; Gooding, of Idaho; and McKinley, of Illinois.

To Oust Smith from L. C. Chair.

Unless Lodge recovers, there will be two republican vacancies on the foreign relations committee, the second having been created by the recent death of Brandegee, of Connecticut. Borah, Hiram Johnson and Moses are the only remnants of the old ir-reconcilable group that will be left here, but their influence will be so great in the republican caucus that they probably will succeed in filling the vacancies with friendly senators.

One of the first developments in the new congress will be the reorganization of the senate interstate commerce committee which, with the aid of La Follette votes, was placed under the chairmanship of a democrat, Smith, of South Carolina, at the last session. Commis probably will be restored as chairman.

May Reduce La Follette.

It is probable that an attempt will be made to deprive La Follette of his republican designation and his important committee assignments as a result of his candidacy in the presidential campaign. La Follette is next in line for the chairmanship of the finance committee and is second on the interstate commerce committee. If the republicans could succeed in classing him as an independent, he would lose these seniority rights and go to the foot of the committee lists. Whether such an attempt could succeed is a question that can not be answered this early.

La Follette will continue to hold his balance of power group in the session of congress beginning in December. The membership is the same as that at the last session. La Follette will be able to exert an influence in the shaping of the appropriation bills. But there will be little general legislation aside from these sundry bills, so that his opportunities will be restricted.

Coolidge is opposed to reopening the tax question until the new congress comes in.

The new situation in the next congress presents a problem in strategy for Coolidge. He can either play ball with the mild progressives and

JACKIE DECORATED FOR NEAR EAST HELP

New York, November 7.—Master Jackie Coogan has been awarded the golden cross of the Order of Jerusalem by the Greek Orthodox church in recognition of his humanitarian services for refugee kids in the Near East.

The Near East relief, which was awarded to Jackie's decoration by cable, says the cross is one of the most prized ecclesiastical decorations in the world. It is in the form of a locket, containing a small icon of wood, which is believed by the Greek church to be an actual piece of the original cross on which Christ was crucified.

AUCTIONEER FINED IN SALE OF JEWELRY

James Mann, auctioneer employed in a jewelry store on Whitehall street, was fined $100 before Recorder A. W. Callaway Thursday afternoon when found guilty of violating the ordinance regulating the sale of jewelry at auction. He appealed the decision and was released on $200 bond.

Detectives testified that a purchase made by one of them revealed that the article was not properly tagged as to price and merit as the law requires.

BURKE'S COMEBACK.
In a state overwhelmingly republican John Burke, known to fame for his personal integrity in a test of grilling sacrifice, was elected to a place in the North Dakota supreme court—and Judge Burke a lifelong, uncompromising, old-school democrat.

For three terms he had served as governor, having been elected over republican contestants, and in the early days of the Wilson administration he was United States treasurer and made a most excellent record. He resigned to enter the brokerage business in New York.

Being honest himself he made the mistake of believing everybody else honest. He trusted his partners explicitly, and permitted the use of his name without knowing the details of the transactions, being unused to the "ways and wiles of Wall street" that sometimes—too often—prevail in that celebrated mart of contract trading.

When the crash came he found himself caught in the whirlpool of financial troubles and suspicions, but he quickly demonstrated that he was guiltless of even a suspicion of anything wrong, or even irregular. He turned over every dollar of his personal fortune to the firm's creditors, and moved back to his home in Fargo broken in fortune but not broken in spirit.

And the republicans as well as the democrats of his home state combined in staging the comeback. He was chosen to the high office of justice of the highest court in the state by an overwhelming vote—a vote of confidence that must have made this veteran of more than forty years of public life prouder than the day he took the oath of office for the first time as the state's chief executive. Does honesty pay? Always!

MOUNTING COSTS.

One of the outstanding problems of the present day is that of ever-mounting costs. "Eaten up by overhead expenses" is the significant explanation given of numerous failures, both corporate and individual.

We hear much about the high cost of government, the high cost of doing business and the high cost of living. We even hear complaint of the high cost of dying and being buried. On every hand and in every branch of human endeavor we encounter the same thing—burdensome overhead. Therefore, the crux of the situation is seen clearly to require that income must be increased or outgo cut down. In the case of governmental expenses, all the way from the smallest hamlet to the national government, the situation is being met by increasing income. Taxes can be levied to meet whatever amount may be required within certain prescribed limits. Business enterprises may increase prices of goods, corporations may advance rates, professional men may raise fees.

This process, however, is not really solving the problem. One does not gain in height by building up one's boot heels. In the language of the street, it is merely passing the buck to the other fellow.

The old-fashioned physician used to say that the best way to cure a disease was to remove the cause. A very effective way to meet the problem of mounting costs is to reduce the overhead. It is quite clear that this must be checked somewhere, else it will continue to grow until it will topple and fall of its own weight.

The demands of modern life are much more numerous and costly than they were a generation ago. We want many things now which our grandparents knew nothing of, and our wants are expensive. We want municipal improvements and the extension of city conveniences; we want well-equipped homes, we want expensive cars and elaborate social programs. We want many things which the past generations got along without. In trying to provide ourselves with all these things we have added an ever-increasing number of millstones to our already overloaded necks.

Relief may be obtained by the simple process of cutting off a few of the millstones.

There is talk of putting the old silver dollar back on the circulation list. While it is something of a heavyweight, we're willing to bear our part of the burden.

A fellow named Franz Enterpriser tried to buy a ticket in Vienna a few days ago to Mars. Any man with a name like that ought to move somewhere.

The Prince says "the American girls are beautiful," and of course they've returned the royal compliment: "He's a mighty nice young man!"

Candidate Andy Gump is diplomatic to the limit. He was born and raised in so many towns, it's a job for him to keep track of 'em all.

Sometimes just one book has made its author so rich that he could quit for life. But the trouble is he won't.

The new British cabinet is strictly conservative, but it is not reactionary. It reflects a type of party management of government that had always been reflected by the democratic party in America until it became saturated with the wild-eyed theories of the political circus riders of the west.

In a far-off land I wander,
Tolling night and day for gold
With the turmoil of the present
Crowing out the days of old;
Through the dusk a voice will call me,
Call me softly home at last,
Back to where the birches quiver
Down beside the dear old river
In the country of the past.

But when life's Last Post is sounding
Through the shadows of the night,
And the earthly goals I toiled for
Vanish with a fading light,
Through the dusk a voice will call me,
Call me softly home at last,
Back to where the birches quiver
Down beside the dear old river
In the country of the past.

Browning Too Much for Him.
This literary note from William Southern, writing in the Independence Examiner:

"I have never been able to get the hang of Browning's poems. I know a few are concealed there. Two of the independence study classes are starting in for a year of Browning, and one of the members can tell me all about him and quote with rapid vision his verses and you cannot tell whether they know what they mean or whether they are simply mimicking. Sometimes I have found Browning very interesting. I made a big reputation once traveling on a Pullman. My wife has put a volume of Browning in my grip and I lady whom I esteem very much was very curious to know what I was reading, and when she found out she was much astonished. So was I. Ever since that time the lady has continued to believe I am extremely literary. I am not. The bump of mystery on my head is dead. I do love verse. I cannot tell whether poetry limps or runs. That's the reason I never attempt to write any. Browning is said to be a good writer of a prosperous banker and not at all like the current idea of a professional poet. I can well believe this, for some of his verse is as cryptic as a banker's refusal of a loan."

THE "DAD" JOB.
The greatest thing in the world is to be a father. Next to that is to be a father.

I have the second greatest job in the world. And I think I might as well call it a job, for I am the father of twin boys.

One of my lady correspondents became rather disconcerted when I had heard of this, for previously she had imagined that instead of being 40-odd years old, the father of twin boys, she was writing to a patriarch like Moses who didn't get nervous and disturbed when tears were wept upon his shoulder.

A month ago I left home with my boys for a 1,500-mile trip by motor. It rained some days, but to us the sun was always out.

Boys at 17 are often untamed. And as high as 40 in age they show earmarks of the wild. Every day was an adventure. One of the boys always called me "Master." For what reason I know not. But I was, nevertheless, pleased and honored. The other always called me "Dad."

Many hotel men were glad when they departed. They said they rented rooms—no gymnasiums!

They were hardships. Early and late meals—sometimes skipped ones, and long drives at night. But never a complaint. When I was 17 I longed to be a soldier, and now I am a father. I determined to be a 17-year-old father myself some day. And that's why this job of being a "dad" right now has more thrills and adventure to it than anything I have done or ever hope to do.

At the age of 46, to be exact, I sometimes give each of these boys a set in jail for not voting their way. And we box and wrestle and muss things up generally.

We confide our troubles to each other. Three heads are better than one. And two young heads are often better than one old one.

A lot of you fathers are missing a grand circus such as Barnum never set on foot. These boys are my future partners in business. They are my pals now.

Next expects to go to Yale. George, to Dartmouth. The two play football. I saw by the papers recently that the game between Yale and Dartmouth ended in a tie!

Enter the "dad" in the game. If you do it as you do your other big jobs.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW
BY PIERRE VAN PASSEN

Lifted Above The Clamor.
The terms of the Geneva protocol, especially in regard to the cooperation of the British fleet to back the League of Nations, are not wholly clear, leading newspapers of England declare. And with fine singleness of purpose the three leading parties dropped discussion of the protocol during the election. They took it out of politics for the time being, because its purposes and aims were not clearly understood. On the face of it the protocol looks like a step forward. It is a world-scheme plan. It is a restraint upon all the nations. The League of Nations cannot be criticized for its patient and persistent effort to discover a system of regulations and mutual pledges which will delay, or at any rate render extremely difficult, an ultimate appeal to international disputes to armed force. But the British parties refrained from criticizing because of the great interest Britain has at stake in different parts of the globe and because as a world-scheme the protocol must remain inoperative as long as the United States does not cooperate. The protocol could easily have been made a world-scheme by the labor government and by MacDonald himself as foreign minister. That is why the taking out of politics of such a matter during a campaign is a world-scheme in itself. How different would the League of Nations question fare if it were not considered a mere party matter in the United States.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
KILLING ALONG WITH THE CURING.
Do you ever do any killing along with the curing? A woman who calls herself "Old Flapper" inquires. On first blush the impulse is to put in an indignant plea of not guilty, but it appears she means no insinuation. She isn't seeking regular murder, she is seeking to exterminate the "flapper" but just extermination of superfluous hair. She says she has a "perfectly stunning Hungarian mustache," has never tried a razor nor a depilatory, but she has tried the tweezers on a few of the hairs, and it has just about ruined her otherwise amiable disposition.

Electrolysis—which means destroying each hair root separately with the electric needle—is the best treatment for superfluous hair, and it is the only treatment which most competent physicians who are skin specialists will use for the destruction of hairs about the face. X-ray treatment, which sometimes successfully employed for the destruction of hairs on other parts of the body, though it is not without some danger and therefore some of the most experienced medical dermatologists condemn its use for superfluous hair.

Another woman asks about using "wax" for superfluous hair. I don't know just what she means, but perhaps she means the hair sticks to the hairs and pulls them out when she yanks. It would be as good as a razor if the victim doesn't feel the treatment. The use of pumice stone, which she declares will keep the face free of the disfiguring hairs and not stimulate the hairs to "regrowth."

The woman whose medical condition is disturbed by coarse hairs on her face is entitled to the most careful treatment the doctor can give. She should give beauty parlor and quick dermatologists a wide berth and as for the innumerable nostrums which support the "destroy superfluous hair" claim, it should stand to reason that if any such preparation or application really could do so, the electric needle for no physician, I should like to give such treatment—it is as tedious to the doctor as it is disagreeable to the patient. Reputable physicians employ the electric needle in suitable cases of superfluous hair only because they feel it their duty to give that service to the patient so afflicted. I know how to tell a good electric treatment when I give it in my own practice and I needed the business. I have warned girls and young women against the electric needle, attempting to remove or destroy the natural down that covers every woman's face. This down is practically indestructible, but the application of irritants tends to stimulate a heavier growth, and that is one reason why ill advised young women who are trying to get rid of their "beautifiers."

Electrolysis in skilled hands is one of the best means of removing moles and freckles, but it is a procedure which often occurs upon nose or cheeks. Its use is a surgical procedure and demands the knowledge and skill of the physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Laundry Work.
For the benefit of us laundry women please tell me whether there is any danger of catching syphilis by washing the clothes of a person who has it.
—Mrs. C. T. W.

Answer—Sorters or others who handle the clothing before it is washed may be exposed to a risk of syphilis. People who poison themselves by infection of any scratches or abrasions on their hands by soiled clothing, but not syphilis. Laundry work, in fact, is safe work so far as any such risk is concerned. The soap and water, balling and general use of chlorine in laundries sufficiently disinfect the clothing and remove the infection. The disease rate among laundry workers offers some support to the theory that the use of chlorine about laundries is a good thing, but it is susceptible to infectious disease than the general population.

Ambidexterity.
You have written on the use of the left hand for writing and other skilled work, as it relates to speech. How would you place the control centers of left and right arm and the center of speech in an ambidextrous person?
—(S. M.)

Answer—I believe the latent speech center would be developed so that the individual who has trained each hand equally would have equally active speech centers on both sides of the brain. I know of no actual observation of such a case, but I believe, however, except that the ambidextrous person is commonly endowed with facile speech and a mobile facial expression, not to mention various talents.

TIMES CORRESPONDENT HURT IN ROUEN WRECK

Paris, November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Walter Duranty, staff correspondent of the New York Times and recently New York Times correspondent in Russia, was injured when the Paris-Havre express was derailed in a tunnel near Rouen at 10 o'clock last night. Both of his legs were broken.

A freight train coming in the opposite direction struck the express and caused it to leave the tracks. Two persons were killed, a French resident of Havre and an Englishman living in Paris. Besides Mr. Duranty, five other persons were injured.

2 GEORGIAN WOUNDED IN LIQUOR SEIZURE

Cleveland, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Floyd Shelton and Rufus Seabolt were wounded last night by officers, when they, with one McCollum, were captured in an automobile which contained 95 gallons of whisky. The wounded were taken to the University hospital at Cleveland. They are reported to have received wounds in the leg. Circumstances surrounding the haul are not known here. The liquor was seized on the Cleveland road.

Democratic Party's Crushing Defeat
Due to the Worship of False Gods, Declares Former Senator Hardwick

Editor Constitution: Allow me to express my hearty commendation, in the main, at least, of your leading editorial following the national election entitled "The Result."

The democratic party suffered its crushing defeat of last Tuesday because it has left its ancient moorings and has deserted its old-time fundamentals. It has gradually gotten itself in a position where it is neither strong enough for the radicals nor conservative enough for the conservatives, as it has straddled practically every important question and has straddled for practically nothing.

It has undertaken to throw some of those elements of our population that desire a socialistic and paternalistic government, but it has not thrown enough to satisfy those elements, but merely enough to shake and destroy the confidence of the conservative elements everywhere.

It has, apparently, carried a single state outside of the south, and few thoughtful persons fail to realize that the south would not have voted for the democratic party if it had been bound to the very name of the democratic party by the traditions of its history and by the chains of its race problem.

But for these considerations, peculiar to the south, it is doubtful if the democratic party could, on last Tuesday, have carried a single state in the republic. That situation is all the more remarkable because the present administration and the republican party went into this campaign handicapped by exposures of administrative graft and dishonesty unparalleled in the history of American politics.

Since our responsible leadership has failed so signally it has become an imperative necessity for the democratic masses everywhere to consider the question, "What is the matter with the democratic party?" and to find out what is the matter with it. If it is otherwise it will not live through many more such "contests."

One party occupies today a position perilously close to that occupied by the "liberal" party in Great Britain. Eleven years ago the liberal party, one of the most notable triumphs in the history of modern politics, had, following a general election, a majority of more than three hundred and fifty seats in the house of commons and was in a position to govern.

In the recent English election it barely managed to hold forty seats, being almost exterminated at the polls. The liberal party, however, has not been exterminated, but it has been almost exterminated, and that is one reason why ill advised young women who are trying to get rid of their "beautifiers."

Electrolysis in skilled hands is one of the best means of removing moles and freckles, but it is a procedure which often occurs upon nose or cheeks. Its use is a surgical procedure and demands the knowledge and skill of the physician.

ENGLISH PAPERS LAUD NEW CABINET

London, November 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—King George today received the ministers of the retiring labor government, who handed over their seals of office as a brief ceremony, which attracted little public attention. The crowd which is usually present in the vicinity of Buckingham palace displays more interest in the changing of the bright uniformed guards than the arrival and departure of the fallen cabinet ministers.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, does not disappear after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

How quickly that rash disappeared!

THOUSANDS of users have wondered at the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days' persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unsurpassed for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

this, regrets the inclusion of so many former officeholders and says: "The public is looking with almost pathetic anxiety for the emergence of new leaders."

The appointment of Winston Churchill to succeed such a dominant post as chancellor of the exchequer naturally attracts the main attention of the commentators, who remark upon the courage and independence shown by the premier in disregarding the inevitable hostility which the selection will provoke among the considerable section of the conservative ranks. The choice itself is nowhere condemned and by several papers is variously described as "welcome," "sound" or "excellent."

Some criticisms, however, are expressed lest its inacceptability in all sections of the party render cooperation difficult, while the ultra-conservative Morning Post, "hesitates to applaud" the appointment, saying that, although Mr. Churchill is a brilliant debater and orator, "socialism and the revolutionary spirit can only be fought by constructive statesmanship based upon such qualities as honesty of character and sympathetic understanding."

The exclusion of Sir Robert Horne is regretted by most of the papers, but his refusal of the ministry of labor, according to The Times, "was hardly so sensational as it has been depicted."

Undoubtedly, however, putting Churchill where they think Home ought to be has aroused indignation in some of the political circles this morning.

Whether Sir Robert himself feels any pique it is impossible to say, and it is equally unlikely whether he would have accepted the exchequer if it had been offered to him. At any rate it seems clear that he was not prepared to relinquish his big business interests with a reputed income of £50,000 pounds, for the labor ministry, with a salary of £2,000 pounds, whatever may be at the back of the incident, it is said Sir Robert will give the premier his loyal support in parliament.

Austen Chamberlain's appointment to head the foreign office is generally approved, but his position in the post, the political writers say, being far greater than has been known to the public.

"The main gain in his experience," says The Times, "lies in America, which becomes more and more the most important feature in the British outlook on the world."

ELECTION FRAUDS CHARGED IN OHIO

Cleveland, November 7.—Charges of "gross and repeated election frauds" occurred throughout the 22nd district of Ohio are contained in a formal protest mailed to the clerk of the house of representatives tonight by Albert F. Coyle, defeated independent progressive candidate for congress, contesting the election of Congressman Theodore E. Burton, republican.

Mr. Coyle charges that "corrupt election officials, presumably acting under orders of their party bosses, robbed him of thousands of votes."

Proof of forty acts of fraud are in the possession of himself and Robert M. Campbell, his campaign manager, Mr. Coyle said. In some cases his name had been erased, in others Mr. Burton's marked by election judges or the ballots so defaced they were not counted, Mr. Coyle contended.

The official count has not been completed. On this unofficial count Mr. Burton had a majority of more than 50,000 in this county. He also had a majority in Lake and Geauga counties.

"MISPELLED" CANDIDATE ASK FOR RECOUNT

Detroit, Mich., November 7.—Detroit voters who tried to vote for Charles Bowles, "sticker" candidate for mayor, misspelled name 120 different ways in attempting to write it on the ballot, a check of the votes has disclosed. Bowles said today that he would ask for a recount of the votes when it was intimated that legal action might be taken to have the votes discarded because of errors in spelling the name.

Check of the ballots showed that Bowles, who has no middle initial, was given ten different initials, the most frequent being "W."

Figures of Oakley E. Distin, secretary of the city election commission, show 325,078 ballots were issued, and that 308,832 were counted for mayor, leaving 16,246 uncounted for, which would be sufficient to elect Bowles.

San Francisco, November 7.—Calvin Coolidge carried California with more than a quarter of a million votes to spare. Tabulation by the Associated Press tonight of returns from 7,280 of the state's 7,468 precincts gave: Coolidge 706,021; La Follette 415,195; Davis 101,574; Faris 13,075.

Dallas, November 7.—Complete returns from 103 counties tabulated up to 6 p. m., showing the following totals for governor: Dr. George C. Butte, republican, 143,093; Miriam A. Ferguson, democrat, 179,533. These figures give Mrs. Ferguson a majority of 36,530 votes. Bear and Tarrant counties are among the 149 counties yet to be reported.

St. Paul, Minn., November 7.—Pridemore Coolidge had a plurality of 82,976 votes in Minnesota when tabulation of unofficial returns from Tuesday's election ended tonight, with 3,572 of the state's 3,697 precincts reported. He had 419,321 votes as compared with 326,345 for La Follette and 55,707 for Davis. For senator, the same precincting gave Schall, republican, 384,532; Johnson, farmer-labor, 374,984; and Farrell, democrat, 51,700.

Raleigh, N. C., November 7.—Republican representation in the North Carolina house of representatives in 1925 will be virtually three times that in the present general assembly, according to a list of members elected, compiled here today. This list gives the democrats 100 of the 120 members of the house; the republicans 18, with two districts listed as doubtful. There are seven republicans in the present house.

Fargo, N. D., November 7.—Indications early tonight were that President Coolidge received a plurality of approximately 5,000 votes in North Dakota at Tuesday's election.

will be under direction of council, and the mayor will serve as an ex-officio member of the board.

Try To Override Veto.
It is practically certain that an attempt will be made to override the veto.

Four other measures, passed by council Monday, also were vetoed by the mayor, which with the ordinance providing for increases in the size of six important councilmanic committees, which Mayor Sims vetoed Tuesday, made a total of six measures, all of which were passed this week, which the chief executive has refused to sign.

Mayor Sims also explained his reasons for vetoing the Pennington ordinance, which provides for an increase in the number of members of committees on fire department, police department, park department, hospitals and charities, sanitary affairs and waterworks.

"Small committees are more effective and can accomplish more good than large ones," he said, and less political enters into actions of a body than of a larger one. Representative government does not enter into the case, as committees are working bodies, and are not representative in the sense that territorial bodies should be represented.

Committees Large Enough.
"The present committees are sufficiently large to transact all affairs of city government, and more good can be accomplished by keeping them as they are."

"The same situation applies to the legislature. If one member from every county of the state was made a member of each important committee, the effect would be similar to that if the proposed ordinance was put into effect. However, after conference with and expediting government, large committees tend to paralyze it."

Sponsors of the ordinance already are mustering strength for an attempt to override the mayor's veto, and another fight is expected when the measure comes up in council November 17.

Other Measures Vetoed.
Other measures vetoed Friday include resolutions to reduce bills of the Atlanta Gas Light company for excavating in the streets; award of the contract for paving North avenue from Peachtree to Myrtle streets to the McDougald Construction company, and an increase in salary for the secretary to the chief of construction.

Two resolutions, asking reduction in the gas company's bills were turned down.

Mrs. Owens testified that when her husband attempted to separate her and Mrs. Brown, McClain declared that he would "fix them both." She said that McClain went to his car, leaned over, and coming back suddenly struck her husband.

Dr. C. G. Kemper, who was stationed at the emergency hospital at the fair grounds and who attended Owens when he was brought to the hospital, testified Friday afternoon that he saw no marks on Owens' body that would indicate violence.

Dr. Kemper's testimony was later borne out by E. Frank Hendricks, embalmer for H. M. Patterson & Sons, undertakers, who prepared Owens' body for burial.

Mrs. Brown's Version.
According to Mrs. Brown's story, she and McClain were preparing to leave the fair grounds when they found their car was blocked by another machine. They attempted to move it. The Owens were seated in a nearby automobile, and without provocation told McClain to keep away from their car, she testified.

This started an argument which resulted in Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Owens coming to blows, the latter striking her with a rock, she declared. Owens then took a hand in the fight and seized her by the hair, Mrs. Brown said. When McClain attempted to stop Owens, the latter threatened to "blow his brains out," Mrs. Brown testified, and it was as Owens jumped upon the running board of his car that McClain struck at him. They clinched and fell to the pavement, with McClain on top of Owens, and Mrs. Brown concluded.

The indictment against McClain charged him with striking Owens with a "deadly instrument," the nature of which was "not known to the grand jury."

Forbes Only Member Left

Athens, Ga., November 1.—(Special.)—With the Georgia Bulldogs on the way to Charlottesville, only one member is left at home on account of injuries, which is more than most of the other southern eleven can boast. Forbes, the injured man, is representing the Red and Black at the hospital for a few days, and the rest of the Georgia squad will go intact against the Virginia Cavaliers Saturday.

CONFERENCE TEAMS IN IMPORTANT BATTLES TODAY

Tech Hi Proves Too Much for G. M. A.—Score 26-0

Carrollton Beats Decatur And Boys' High Plays Newnan on Even Terms

BY GORDON KEITH.

The mighty Tech High football machine, with Thomason and Randolph leading the attack, drove through the weakened and broken red line of G. M. A. in the second half of the prep classic at Spiller field, and literally tore four touchdowns from the fighting cadet eleven to win, 26-0, and keep the Smithie southern record unmarred for Steele High.

It was a great first clear through, a typical G. M. A.-Tech High football meeting, and the high school was only able to pile up its score after the gallant cadet forwards were worn and beaten by the driving, slashing Smithie running attack.

The Boys' High game Tuesday certainly told on the cadets after 30 minutes of hard play. Stumpy Thomason and Bob Randolph were the Tech High stars responsible for the Smithie scores. Stumpy getting away on end runs for long gains and returning punts for substantial yardage with every kick, while Randolph ploughed through and ripped the cadet forward wall for gain after gain.

Score on Pass.

The first score came with the last play of the second period, after a forward passing attack launched by the Smithies had advanced the ball to the 15-yard line. One more toss, Thomason to Rosenblatt, netted the 15 yards and the only blood of the first half. Thomason kicked goal and the half ended with the score 7-0.

G. M. A. played a great defensive game and had the fast Tech High locks under control most of the period. In the first quarter Oliver intercepted a Smithie pass and ran 60 yards to Tech High's 20-yard line before being tackled. G. M. A. fumbled two plays later, however, and Tech High ran it back out of danger. Tech High made ten first downs to 1 for G. M. A. in the first half.

With the opening of the second half, overwork began to tell on the Cadet play and Tech High backs got away for longer gains. G. M. A. fumbled on the kick-off, and punted from the 10-yard line. Thomason returned Eaton's kick to the 30-yard line. The Cadet line held for downs on the 20-yard line, and Eaton looted a long one to Tech High's 30-yard line. Thomason returning 10 yards. Randolph made first down through the line, and Thomason circled end for 30 yards.

Tech Hi Fumbles.

Tech High fumbled on 10-yard line two plays later, G. M. A. recovering. Eaton punted to the Cadet 40-yard line, Thomason being downed in his tracks by Bailey. Thomason made 20 yards around end, and Randolph hit center for another first down. With the ball on the 6-yard line and second down, Randolph ploughed through for the second touchdown. Thomason kicked goal. The quarter ended a few plays after the kick-off.

Glinskale and Manning substituted for Thomason and Parshall at halves. Rosenblatt, Randolph and Glinskale made a first down each and carried the ball to the Cadet 14-yard marker. Tech High fumbled, G. M. A. recovering. The Cadets opened up a forward pass attack in a desperate effort to score, and after making a first down when a Smithie back interfered with a pass receiver, Watkins, Tech High guard, intercepted a partially-blocked pass on the 20-yard line and raced over the goal. Rosenblatt missed goal.

After the kick-off, Lautsenheiser intercepted a second Cadet pass on the 25-yard line. Manning made 10 through the line. Rosenblatt added 12 more off tackle, and Randolph ploughed through for 10 yards and the last score. Rosenblatt again missed goal.

Thomason Stars.

Thomason made four beautiful runs for 20 and 30-yard gains, and failed only once to return a punt for a nice gain. Randolph went through the Cadet line like a battering ram and made first downs and scores besides two touchdowns. Rosenblatt ran his team well and made several pretty runs himself. In the line, Lautsenheiser, Payne and Watkins played good ball, opening holes and tackling in great fashion. Holland, end and captain, played the best defensive game on the field. Glenn spilt the interference and tackled the man regularly when the play was directed around his end.

For G. M. A., Captain Pike's play in supporting the line and his speed when running with the ball marked him as a really great star. O'Neil, at end, and Oliver and Mathews in the line played brilliantly in the cadet forward wall. Goodrum played a good game at full, and Bailey played his best game of the season, playing for Mayo at guard.

Lineup and Summary.

TECH HI: For. G. M. A. McCune, O'Neil, Oliver, Mathews, Mayo, Bailey, Goodrum, Rosenblatt, Randolph, Glinskale, Watkins, Holland, Lautsenheiser, Payne, and Watkins.

Carrollton Beats Decatur.

The strong Carrollton high football team, one eleven that tied the Columbus machine last week, scored two touchdowns in the opening quarter and defeated the Decatur team in a great outburst, 12-0, at Decatur City stadium. Decatur was not thoroughly aware that a football game was in progress during the first quarter.

Carrollton got busy and crossed the home eleven's goal twice during the opening period, and Coach Hamley's men arose in the second half to find themselves trailing 12-0. The Decatur team got busy and bucked the ball to the four-yard line and made it first down. Carrollton's line held for three plays, but Decatur's line tackled went over on last down on a trick formation. Edwards kicked goal.

In the first half, Decatur held the Carrollton team down on the four-yard line, and punted out of danger. The Carrollton team brought the ball back to the 20-yard line in a smashing drive, and Decatur held for three downs for no gain. Logan, fleet half-back, circled left end for 20 yards and touchdown on last down. The second score came on a receiver, Watkins, after backs had carried the ball to the Decatur 15-yard line.

Buck Tally Over.

Logan hit tackle for 14 yards and first down, and the ball was bucked across from the two-yard line. Decatur was troubled with numerous fumbles in the second quarter, the ball being lost on a fumble every time the attack got well under way. Tate, Decatur half, was hurt, and Captain Jackson, center, was shifted to the backfield and Broadwater sent in at the pivot position. Several backs from center were largely responsible for the numerous fumbles.

Both elevens rolled up a number of first downs, with the visitors having a slight edge. The punts were about even, averaging around 35 yards. Neither team used a passing system. Decatur completing only one and Carrollton two during the game. For Decatur, Hensler was the star in the attack, with Flegg and Edwards showing up well. In the line, Jackson, McCurdy and Proctor played best games. Logan was the great star for Carrollton, and of the game.

NEWNAN TIES BOYS' HIGH.

Newnan, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—The Newnan High school football team and the strong team from Boys' High, of Atlanta, played one of the prettiest football games ever seen here this afternoon, the final score being 6 and 6.

Both teams were about evenly matched until the third quarter when Bevis, Newnan's star fullback, and Barron, halfback for Newnan, were injured. Bevis was forced to retire from the game.

Newnan's score came in the first quarter when Manget, for Newnan, intercepted a forward pass on his own 20-yard line and carried the ball 70 yards to the Boys' High 10-yard line. Bevis bucked the line for the remaining ten yards on the next play.

Boys' High scored in the fourth quarter after Newnan had fumbled on her own 18-yard line.

Big Six Carpenter and Jimmie Brewster, former Georgia Tech stars, together with Hamilton Arnall, officiated.

GIANTS, SOX REACH PARIS

Paris, November 7.—(By The Associated Press.)—The New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox, on a European exhibition tour, arrived in Paris today from London and were greeted at the railway station by 15 French newspaper photographers and 50 correspondents.

The baseball visitors received the "greatest reception since that given the Prince of Wales on his last visit," according to a veteran usher at the Gare du Nord.

Manager John McGraw, who is honorary president of the French Baseball Federation, was greeted by Frantz Reichel, general secretary of the French Olympic committee. McGraw told the French correspondents, through an interpreter, that they were certain to see "a real ball game" tomorrow. He added that he was going to pitch Neft and give the French fans a look at some genuine pitching.

Three Tigers Who Clash Today With Jackets of Tech

Below: A. Connell, fullback.

Carriere, quarterback.

Here are three of the L. S. U. Tigers, coached by Mike Donahue, who will take Grant field this afternoon in a well-puted effort to quell the Jackets of Georgia Tech. Donahue ran his men through their final workout yesterday afternoon on Grant field.

BIG TEN CROWN IS SOUGHT BY SIX

Chicago, November 7.—(By The Associated Press.)—Whether Illinois, outstanding favorite to win the 1924 western conference football championship, is a super team, impossible to stop, or whether it is a team of remarkably drilled players, against whom no suitable defense has been evolved, are questions that will be determined on Stagg field tomorrow when Illinois and Chicago clash in the day's ranking game in the west.

Illinois tonight was a top-heavy favorite, largely through the efforts of Harold "Red" Grange, who has not been successfully stopped since he stepped on a conference gridiron last fall. There is little doubt in the minds of neutral football observers that Coach Stagg, for 30 years a builder of football machines at Chicago, is a master in developing defense against powerful teams.

Whether he has succeeded in evolving a defense to stop Grange was a question that could not be answered tonight. With everything to win and nothing to lose, the 62-year-old coach of the Maroons has been on the chalk lines himself, directing the practice of his team, and the eleven which faces Illinois will be ready to play its best football.

Good Teams Failed.

Michigan and Iowa, as far as man have the best opportunity to stop Grange. Against the Wolverines, however, the Illinois wildcat ran wild and against Iowa Grange consistently gained from five to ten yards every time he started in outback runs off-tackle.

Illinois, the experts figure, probably will run up a large score against the Maroons, for Chicago, though it probably has the strongest line from tackle to tackle in the Big Ten, is regarded as weak in the ends and back. The prophecy is made that if Grange breaks through the line it will be extremely difficult to down him.

The game will be witnessed by a sell-out capacity of 33,000 spectators. No seats will be sold at Stagg field tomorrow and there is no standing room available. Speculators, into whose hands a few seats have fallen, are asking $10 to $50 for a ticket purchased for $3.

Rockne Visits Wisconsin.

Ranking next in importance to the Chicago Illinois game, is the clash between Notre Dame and Wisconsin at Madison, Notre Dame, flash from a top-sided victory over Georgia Tech a week ago, is a strong favorite, but the Badgers have had two weeks in which to prepare for the fray and are determined to give Coach Rockne's warriors a tough afternoon.

Rockne's back field, crippled in the triumph over the Badgers, is expected to be ready for the Badgers. Northwestern, with renewed hopes since the defeat of Indiana a week ago, invades Ann Arbor for a contest with Michigan.

In the other conference game of tomorrow's schedule, Indiana will meet Ohio State at Columbus.

According to Fred W. Withey, of the National Surety company, women, as a rule, have more regard for honesty than men, ascribing this regard for the truth, principally to an element of fear.

Crimson Meets Kentucky For Alabama Homecoming

University, Ala., November 7.—Coach Wallace Wade sent his Crimson squad through its last workout here Friday afternoon for the game with the Kentucky Wildcats here Saturday as the big feature of Homecoming day.

As he drove his men through trick scrimmage, Wade again showed that he had retracted none of the strength of his saying earlier in the year—that he feared Kentucky more than any other eleven.

The Wildcats arrived at Tuscaloosa Friday and took a light practice at Denny field immediately upon arrival. They are reported to be in good condition and in a fighting mood for the game Saturday.

No one in the Tennessee fold will be unable to play Saturday. No injuries of even a slight nature have been sustained this week, and Wade will be able to shoot his best at the best that the Blue Grass eleven can offer. Mack Brown and Dave Rosenbald, the two flashy backs who have ripped off at least a 35-yard run in every game this year, are again set to do their jack-rabbit stuff, if the opportunity is presented.

A crowd of at least 10,000 is expected to witness the game. Reservations have been pouring in from every section of the state for tickets to the game, and hundreds of cars are expected to be driven through the country from Birmingham and Montgomery. A special train will also be operated from Birmingham.

Alabama's undefeated freshmen eleven will rest this week-end, but plays Mississippi A. & M. freshmen next week-end.

FIRST BATTALION RACE HORSES BEATS THIRD REACH CUBA

Havana, Cuba, November 7.—The first shipment of race horses to arrive for the racing season at Oriental park, opening November 29, came in this morning from Key West. The cars containing the animals were brought over on the ferry and then shunted to the tracks here and the animals were unloaded at the park. They came from Youngstown, Ohio. Several other shipments are due next week.

Chicago, November 7.—The University of Chicago next year will join these western conference schools

Two S. I. C. Aggregations In Intersectional Game; Three Have Perfect Slates

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Two games with an important bearing on the mythical championship of the Southern conference, and two ventures into the east by teams from the south, feature today's football card.

Alabama and Georgia, undefeated and unnumbered by the games, meet conference teams, the Bulldogs snapping at the Virginia Cavaliers in Charlottesville, while the Crimson Tide will attempt to wash out the Kentucky Wildcats as the feature of a homecoming celebration in the Alabama college town.

A contest attracting extraordinary interest between southern and eastern teams is at West Point, where the University of Florida is meeting the Army. The Gators are capable and will certainly put up a battle against the rejuvenated Mule, but are having the better of the discussion.

Maryland Meets Yale.

In the other invasion the University of Maryland plays Yale with the pleasant memory of a victory-making game last year to cheer them on. It is doubtful if southern airs will predominate in the musical program at New Haven this year, however, for Maryland has not found its football path one of roses.

Numerous clashes between conference teams will probably cause a shakeup in the standing this week. Mississippi A. & M., boasting the proud record of victory unmarred by defeat, plays Vanderbilt at Nashville. The Commodores play their first games for fun and now are fighting desperately to get even, so the game with the Aggies should be fast and furious.

Louisiana State comes to Atlanta to play Georgia Tech in a game that some experts have suggested will be decided on the basis of Tech's ability to stop a far-famed passing attack of the Tigers.

A battle of the sternest character should develop when Auburn meets Tulane at Montgomery. Both teams have had their good and bad days during the season.

Two Shots at Virginia.

North Carolina fires a double-barrelled shot at Virginia when the University of North Carolina plays V. M. I. at Chapel Hill and North Carolina State tries conclusions with V. P. I. at Raleigh. The Tar Heels have bumped into adversity along their football way and the same goes for the Flying Cadets but both have pointed for this game and it is sure to be interesting.

The Wolfpack of North Carolina State has found one vexatious incident after another in its season while the Gobblers have won two conference games and played scoreless ties with Auburn and Washington and Lee, this record making the Blacksmith boys favorites.

Both teams have been eliminated from serious consideration as contenders for the head of the class in the Sewanee-Mississippi game but the contest is nevertheless attracting much attention. The Tigers and "Ole Miss" did not meet last year.

The Tennessee Volunteers will have their hands full in meeting the Center's Colonels in Knoxville for the Kentuckians are qualified to make their presence felt in any football game, any time.

With the possibility of a state championship being decided, the game between the University of South Carolina and Furman university at Columbia is attracting more than casual attention. If the Gamecocks can negotiate a victory over the Purple, they will have a clear title to the Palmetto state's football crown.

Clemson Invades N. C.

Clemson goes into North Carolina to play Davidson at Charlotte. Washington and Lee's challenge for the day is with the Citadel at Lexington. William and Mary is attempting to repel an invasion from Pennsylvania in a game with Albright at Williamsburg. Two Virginia teams play when Roanoke meets Richmond and Randolph-Macon is booked to play Galesburg at Ashland. Hampden-Sidney plays Guilford at Hampden-Sidney. A regular game should develop when Louisiana college plays Mississippi college at Clinton.

Mercer and Wofford, meeting at Macon, should have a good game. Mercer's record is the more impressive, but Wofford has shown steady improvement as the season has moved forward and is probably at this time at the top of the game.

Oglethorpe Meets Howard. Oglethorpe, given added prestige by the Petrel victory over Sewanee last Saturday, will play Howard in Birmingham.

The game scheduled for Fayetteville between Southern Methodists and the University of Arkansas, brings two doubtful if southern airs will predominate in the musical program at New Haven this year, however, for Maryland has not found its football path one of roses.

The Tennessee Meets and Loyola play in New Orleans. The Doctors have been bowling over their opponents with regularity and while Loyola has not been able to win its last two engagements, it has forced a draw with Oglethorpe and Mercer.

Crawshaw on the lower athletic field. Georgia Tech is the only college in the south attempting to place a lacrosse team in the field and games have been scheduled with Fort Benning, Dahlonega and several other military organizations.

Emory and Henry meets Lenoir and East Tennessee Normal is to play Maryville. King draws Concord for its opponent.

Clemson Invades N. C. Clemson goes into North Carolina to play Davidson at Charlotte. Washington and Lee's challenge for the day is with the Citadel at Lexington. William and Mary is attempting to repel an invasion from Pennsylvania in a game with Albright at Williamsburg. Two Virginia teams play when Roanoke meets Richmond and Randolph-Macon is booked to play Galesburg at Ashland. Hampden-Sidney plays Guilford at Hampden-Sidney. A regular game should develop when Louisiana college plays Mississippi college at Clinton.

Mercer and Wofford, meeting at Macon, should have a good game. Mercer's record is the more impressive, but Wofford has shown steady improvement as the season has moved forward and is probably at this time at the top of the game.

Oglethorpe Meets Howard. Oglethorpe, given added prestige by the Petrel victory over Sewanee last Saturday, will play Howard in Birmingham.

The game scheduled for Fayetteville between Southern Methodists and the University of Arkansas, brings two doubtful if southern airs will predominate in the musical program at New Haven this year, however, for Maryland has not found its football path one of roses.

Numerous clashes between conference teams will probably cause a shakeup in the standing this week. Mississippi A. & M., boasting the proud record of victory unmarred by defeat, plays Vanderbilt at Nashville. The Commodores play their first games for fun and now are fighting desperately to get even, so the game with the Aggies should be fast and furious.

Louisiana State comes to Atlanta to play Georgia Tech in a game that some experts have suggested will be decided on the basis of Tech's ability to stop a far-famed passing attack of the Tigers.

A battle of the sternest character should develop when Auburn meets Tulane at Montgomery. Both teams have had their good and bad days during the season.

Two Shots at Virginia. North Carolina fires a double-barrelled shot at Virginia when the University of North Carolina plays V. M. I. at Chapel Hill and North Carolina State tries conclusions with V. P. I. at Raleigh. The Tar Heels have bumped into adversity along their football way and the same goes for the Flying Cadets but both have pointed for this game and it is sure to be interesting.

The Wolfpack of North Carolina State has found one vexatious incident after another in its season while the Gobblers have won two conference games and played scoreless ties with Auburn and Washington and Lee, this record making the Blacksmith boys favorites.

Both teams have been eliminated from serious consideration as contenders for the head of the class in the Sewanee-Mississippi game but the contest is nevertheless attracting much attention. The Tigers and "Ole Miss" did not meet last year.

The Tennessee Volunteers will have their hands full in meeting the Center's Colonels in Knoxville for the Kentuckians are qualified to make their presence felt in any football game, any time.

With the possibility of a state championship being decided, the game between the University of South Carolina and Furman university at Columbia is attracting more than casual attention. If the Gamecocks can negotiate a victory over the Purple, they will have a clear title to the Palmetto state's football crown.

Out-of-Town Buying of Rails
Greatly Encourages Wall
Street Bankers on Speculative Prospects of Roads.

New York, November 7.—It is understood that the unexpected large out-of-town buying of railroad stocks following this week's election greatly encouraged Wall Street bankers in their views on the speculative prospects of the rails. The public is switching from industrial stocks to railroad to a remarkable degree and in so doing is greatly influencing Wall Street bankers and professional traders both on and off the stock exchange floor. The enthusiasm now being shown for railroad shares is based on hope of the Coolidge administration favoring railroad mergers take place either in the form of stock dividends or increase in dividends.

Southern Pacific directors are scheduled to meet November 13 and it would not surprise speculative Wall Street greatly if the dividend which has remained at 6 per cent since 1907 is increased to 7 per cent.

Southern Pacific is one of the roads having a large accumulated surplus, the figure in the last annual report standing at $113,377,000 not including $49,415,000 of surplus. Wall street also expects Southern Pacific to take active steps shortly to acquire control of Rock Island.

The feeling here is that in this matter Southern Pacific has been holding back until the final decree was handed down permitting a merger with the El Paso Southern Railway.

New York Central's activity is attributed to a desire on the part of the management and the company bankers to make the stock attractive to the point of getting the holders of outstanding convertible bonds to exchange for stock. The convertible privilege of these bonds expires in a few months.

October production of automobiles and cars was officially stated today at 284,000 against 365,000 a year ago.

FENNER & BEANE.—The market today was exceedingly active on the upward side, and the closing prices of the highest prices attained for several years. New York Central and Union Pacific lead the list, with gains of 1 1/2 and 1 1/4, respectively, while Atchafon, Frisco, Erie, and Rock Island advanced sharply.

The metals group, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Steel and miscellaneous oil stocks continued to be the most active. These were the principal stocks of interest.

The motors stocks and certain watered stocks were the principal feature, in extent by the speculative fraternity. During the final hour there was heavy profit-taking, and the market closed at a decline of 1/2 point.

Durham Hosier company directors met today and passed the annual report, which showed a net profit of $134 per cent, based on the previous year's sales. The Everett Mills saw Lawrence, Mass., announced the mill will be closed, until November 1, and that the employees will be paid for the schedule. Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation for October will be published at the next meeting on next Monday.

Employees of the Ameskeag Cotton mill are to receive less than 100,000 and $82,000 for March, the high point for the year.

It would appear logical to assume that before long the good industrial will share in the advance in the rails.

POST & FLAG. The New York stock market, already ailing from the war, has been further weakened by the approaching boom in speculative activities in cotton today. The market has been a "catapult" affair ever since home early strength on less favorable war prospects and much encouraging news from the cotton belt. The market has been bought on a scale down yet, resulting as yet to follow any advance, which will be followed by a sharp decline when liquidated later in the session, creating

C. P. ELLIS & CO. are sending the assurance of the bureau report tomorrow it is probable that the price of iron will be the probable cause of the iron market. The late date of the season, the fact that the iron market is still in a state of uncertainty, and for this season the official report is that the iron market is still in a state of uncertainty, in the expectation that the latter part of the season will be a favorable indication of yield, sentiment continues to be on the side of the iron market. It has been announced recently that the demand for iron will be increased demand, and we think this will be the case. It is probable that the season should cause a break.

CURVIS BROS. & CO.,
New York, Nov. 7.—There is a distinct feeling that the market will be a busy one during the next few months. Outside there is a buoyant feeling in transactions. There are large quantities of cotton with transactions in Chicago wheat, rye, corn and the other grain markets. The prices of these features point to confidence in business. The market is generally strong because of the consumption of large transactions. Week-end statistics show a decline in the price of cotton, but a fall in the price of wheat.

SECOND SYMPHONY GIVEN ON SUNDAY

The second concert of the current series by the Atlanta Symphony orchestra will be given Sunday afternoon at 3:30, at Loew's Grand theater.

It was announced Friday that there are still a number of vacancies in the membership of the association. The program for the concert Sunday is of popular character. It is the purpose of Enrico Liede, conductor, to alternate the type of program offered, one being composed of classical numbers, while the next is to be more popular nature. The program for Sunday follows:

Ambrise Thomas' overture, "Raymond."
Franz Liszt's "Liebestraum," No. 3.
Charles Gounod's grand fantasia from "Faust."
Liszt's "Les Preludes."
Leonardello's intermezzo from "L. Pagliacci" and Mascagni's intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana."
Percy Grainger's "Molly on the Shore."
Paraphrase on "Turkey in the Straw."

SPALDING APPEARS IN CONCERT TODAY

Albert Spalding, who appears in recital this afternoon as the first attraction of the Series Intime of the Atlanta Music club, has but recently returned to the United States from his annual summer concert tour of European capitals.

This tour, according to Music club officials, was a continuous succession of almost unparalleled triumphs, particularly in Paris, when under the baton of Sergei Koussevitzky, conductor of the Paris opera, the American violinist gave the first performance in the French capital of the Gregorian Concerto, a new work by Respighi, a new work for violin and orchestra which roused the audience to heights of enthusiasm almost without precedent.

The inherent reluctance of Parisian audiences to receive artists born outside the limits of the French republic with other than calm indifference was forgotten. An American of great ability, always a favorite in Paris, was playing a concerto written by an Italian of great ability, with the aid of a symphony orchestra conducted by a Russian of great ability, and when he had finished, Paris accepted the American without question as a great artist.

The Respighi "Gregorian Concerto," which created such a sensation in Paris, will be introduced by Mr. Spalding to American audiences this winter with the Boston Symphony orchestra, of which organization Koussevitzky, the brilliant Russian, has recently assumed charge.

Tickets for the concert at $2 will be on sale today at the Cable Pismo company.

PRIMA DONNA SOPRANO OF LYRIC HERE TODAY

Jeanne LeBrun, prima donna soprano of the Milton Aborn Opera company, and Raymond Hitchcock, leading woman in the latest production of "Hitchy Koo," will arrive in Atlanta today in time for the first ensemble rehearsal of the new lyric theater musical comedy company, it was announced Friday by Manager Montague Salmon.

Miss LeBrun will head the cast of principals in support of Louise Bridge, the noted comedienne, who will be the featured star of the company. The other principals will reach Atlanta during today and Sunday in order that the full company may be rehearsed together for an entire week before the opening on November 17.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR THRASH TODAY

Funeral services for W. H. Thrash, a well-known railroad man who died Thursday at his home in Rome, and whose body was brought to Atlanta Friday, will be held this afternoon from the chapel of Harry G. Poole at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in College Park cemetery.

Until three years ago, when he and his family moved to Rome, Mr. Thrash had been a resident of Atlanta. At the time of his death he had been connected with the Western & Atlantic railroad for more than 20 years. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and of the Methodist church.

RABBI SHILLMAN HERE TO CONDUCT SERVICE

Rabbi Samuel R. Shillman, of Chattanooga, Tenn., will conduct services at the temple, Pryor street, corner Richardson street, this morning.

Rabbi Shillman has been invited to occupy the pulpit for this Sabbath by Rabbi David Marx, who is still unable to take up his regular duties due to his recent illness. The visiting rabbi is the first of a number of nationally prominent rabbis who will conduct services at the temple on alternate Saturdays during the absence of Rabbi Marx.

B. H. GUY, 66, DIES AT MANCHESTER HOME

Manchester, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—B. H. Guy, 66, prominent Manchester citizen, died here Thursday after a long illness. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. R. A. Kelley, of Atlanta, and Mrs. J. H. Montgomery, of Manchester; four sons, J. M., H. B., and T. G. Guy, of Manchester, and E. H. Guy, of Texas, and a brother, E. J. Guy, of Atlanta.

$3,000 Obtained In One-Day Drive For Disabled Vets

Approximately $3,000 was contributed by Atlantans Friday for the welfare of disabled ex-service men in the annual one-day "Forget-Me-Not" day drive. This amount is expected to be increased considerably today, when workers will attend the L. S. U. Georgia Tech football game.

In view of the Community Chest drive underway, leaders were jubilant Friday night over the success of the drive. "I think it was a splendid success, a remarkable outpouring of Atlanta's loving remembrance of those who went to the front in the late war and came back disabled," Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, chairman for the drive, said Friday night.

Mrs. Sam D. Small, head of the War Mothers, was equally as enthusiastic over the results. "It was a success in every way," she said.

Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Small and other leaders expressed highest praise for the assistance of more than 100 young women of the city in the drive. "Our workers deserve all the praise," they said. "And most everyone approached purchased a tiny tag and gave us a small sum. We appreciated the small sums, too. It is that spirit of remembering those who opened their lives to 'come back' that appeals to us most of all. The success of the drive indicates that Atlantans have not forgotten the heroic wounded boys."

It will be late Saturday night before official figures on the drive are made known, it was learned Friday night at the office of State Commander Harbort, of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

The war department plans to promote Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the world flight, to captain. The promotion will be a reward for his leadership on the historic trip.

CAMPBELL IS INDICTED FOR MURDER OF YOUTH

Winless Campbell, a young man living on Crooked road, was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury Friday for murder. He is charged with shooting and fatally wounding Frank Johnson, 14-year-old boy, last Sunday night.

Campbell told officers, following his arrest, that he shot when he observed some one peering through a window in his home. He declares he did not know until later that it was Johnson.

Johnson's father, however, told investigators that his son was seated on the front porch of the Campbell home when Mr. Campbell appeared at the door with a shotgun and fired upon his son. The charge of shooting which set in after his arrival at Grady hospital was responsible for his death Monday morning.

GROCER IN HOSPITAL FROM BLOW ON HEAD

Morris Weisman, grocer, of 160 East Ellis street, is in a serious condition at Grady hospital with concussion of the brain as a result of a blow on the head, received in a mysterious manner when he opened his store early Friday morning.

Weisman was found unconscious on the floor of his establishment Friday morning about 6:30 o'clock by a negro man who had entered to make a purchase. Relatives were notified and he was taken to the hospital.

"KLANCREST" IS SOLD BY COLONEL SIMMONS

Purchase of "Klancrest," former home of Colonel William Joseph Simmons, founder of the Ku Klux Klan, by Joseph E. Boston, secretary

DAIRMEN TO INSPECT BIRMINGHAM PLANTS

A delegation of Georgia dairymen, representing the newly organized Georgia Pure Milk league, next week will inspect pasteurization plants in Birmingham, it was decided at a meeting of the league Friday. The proposal to inspect Birmingham pasteurization plants, made by J. W. Key, a milk producer and member of the Atlanta milk commission, was adopted unanimously.

FLORIDA POSTMASTER ARRESTED FOR THEFT

Postmaster D. D. Raulerson, of Lake City, Fla., was arrested Friday by inspectors from Atlanta headquarters on charges of stealing special delivery letters, according to reports made to Joe P. Johnston, inspector in charge.

Atlanta inspectors were detailed to Lake City after suspicion is said to have pointed toward the postmaster. Inspectors Barry and Ellis were sent to investigate thefts of special delivery letters at the Florida postoffice, resulting in the arrest of Raulerson shortly after the investigation opened.

FEDERAL RAID MADE AT 51 EAST HARRIS

Federal and city officers conducted a raid at 51 East Harris street Tuesday night and arrested four men on charges of violating the prohibition and narcotic laws. Through an error, reports were published that the raid was conducted at 53 East Harris street, which is the location of an apartment house.

Legion Chiefs Leave.

Robert F. Smith and Gordon Hoge, both of New York city, general manager and advertising manager, respectively, of the American Legion Weekly, left Atlanta Friday after a one-day business visit here. They were guests of Argonne post, No. 1, while in the city, and stopped at the Biltmore hotel.

FATHER AND SON DRAW PENALTY IN LIQUOR CASE

"Like father, like son." This was the case Friday afternoon in Fulton superior court when G. Algiers and his son, A. Algiers, pleaded guilty to four charges of manufacturing whisky.

Father and son were jointly indicted by the Fulton county grand jury two weeks ago. Friday they appeared before Judge E. D. Thomas and introduced pleas of guilty. Judge Thomas sentenced them to pay a total of $300 in fines, and sentenced them both to four years in prison. The prison sentence was suspended pending good behavior of the pair.

How This Woman Got Strength

Put Up 300 Quarts Fruit,
500 Glasses Jelly and Took Care of Four Children

Norwalk, Ia.—"I have been meaning for some time to write and tell you how much good your medicine has done me. When I started to take it I was almost bed fast and would have been in bed all the time if I had had any one to care for my children. There was so much swelling and pain that I could hardly take a step. I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash and found that so healing. I am not entirely well yet for I was in bad shape when I started your medicine, but I am so much better that I am not afraid to recommend it, and I think if I keep on taking it, it will cure me. I have done my work all alone this summer, caring for four children, and I canned 300 quarts of fruit and made 500 glasses of jelly, so you see I must be better. I feel pretty good all the time and I am glad to tell others about the medicine."—Mrs. C. J. WENNER-MARK, Box 141, Norwalk, Iowa.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The drawing room where the ceremony was performed was banked with palms and ferns and flanked by a tall white pedestal on either side on which was a basket of gorgeous white chrysanthemums.

Immediately before the ceremony Solon Druckenmiller sang two tenor solos. At the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bride party came down the long stairway and entered the drawing room.

Wedding Party: Mrs. W. B. Kee, of Atlanta, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She was gowned in pink georgette headed in pearls and carried a side train of broad pink satin ribbon. Her flowers were pink chrysanthemums.

Miss Mary Leila Patterson, Miss Jessie Pearl Rice, of Griffin and Mrs. Frank Simmons, of Statesboro, were the bridesmaids. They wore orchid georgette headed in pearls with a side train of orchid ribbon, and carried bouquets of roses with valley lilies.

The tulle veil was in three tiers, the bottom tier ended with valley lilies and the upper tiers caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pink orchids and valley lilies.

A brilliant reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was overlaid with imported lace pieces from Holland, the centerpiece being a fountain playing over small green lights surrounded by pink and white roses, chrysanthemums, white jasmines and smilax. ## The Boys' Suit That Is Different!

Mediocrity and quality may, at first glance, appear quite similar. In a suit, the same general outline and color may prevail in the cheap garment and the one of quality. But the briefest inspection will disclose these points of difference:

Material, in the quality suit, strictly all-wool, will wear better, holds its shape—in the cheaper suit, part cotton, part shoddy, or cheaper yarns, wears quickly, bags and sags. Note the linings and findings—those in the quality suit are invariably of better grade, making for better fit and longer wear.

Note the tailoring, watch the seams. Are they well taped and strongly sewn?

The suit that is different, the quality suit, necessarily costs a little more to buy, but saves a great deal in the end. It usually wears twice as long, is more comfortable, and looks incomparably better in the wearing!

Miss Buchanan Weds Mr. Towles At Lovely Church Ceremony

A marriage of interest, characterized by unusual beauty, was that of Miss Margaret Louise Buchanan and Robert Lee Towles, which was solemnized Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Druid Hills Methodist church.

The Rev. Dr. A. M. Pierce, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. An appropriate program of music was given during the assembling of the guests, by Miss Viola Aiken at the organ and Mrs. Al Tate, sister of the bride, who sang "Because" and "At Dawning."

During the marriage service only mellow candlelights were used and Miss Aiken played softly, "Shubert's Serenade."

Handsome Decorations.
The altar of the church, before which the bride and groom were seated, was decorated with stately green palms, ferns and tropical foliage, extending to the choir loft. Tall floor baskets filled with long-stemmed shaggy white chrysanthemums were placed at intervals among the foliage, alternating with cathedral candelabra holding burning white tapers. Wide white satin ribbons and clusters of huge white chrysanthemums marked the aisle for the families of the bride and groom. Ropes of southern smilax garlanded the side lights of the church, also the overhead chandeliers. Lohengrin's wedding march was used for the procession.

Bridal Party.
First to enter were Miss Ruth Hollingsworth and Keller Moseley. Miss Hollingsworth wore a charming gown of apricot-colored crepe fashioned in bouffant style over gold cloth. Bands of curly ostrich feathers to match the crepe trimmed the lower part of the skirt, while gold lace trimmed the close-fitting bodice, extending to a point in the front. She wore around her head a gold cloth bandeau finished on one side with a gold ornament and carried an arm bouquet of huge yellow chrysanthemums tied with lavender-colored ribbon.

Miss Claude Henderson entered with Dr. Hugh Crossett. She was gowned in pastel blue crepe over silver cloth, trimmed in silver lace and ostrich feathers to match and fashioned the same as the other bridesmaids' gowns. She also carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Eleanor Beach, who entered with Ralph Pate, wore a buff-colored crepe gown trimmed in silver lace and ostrich feathers to match. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Mabel Elder, the attractive young maid of honor, entered with Homer Barter. Her gown was made of orchid shaded crepe with ostrich feather trimmings to match, combined with silver lace. Her arm bouquet was of long-stemmed yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Hugh Crossett, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor and entered alone. She wore a gown of pastel green crepe, veiling silver cloth and fashioned bouffant style. Ostrich feathers and silver lace trimmed the lovely gown, which was fashioned similarly to the bridesmaids. She carried a huge bouquet of long-stemmed white chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Elizabeth Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Buchanan, was flower girl. She wore a dainty frock of flesh-colored chiffon combined with narrow cream lace. A graceful bow-knot of narrow pink satin ribbon adorned her left shoulder, the ends extending to the bottom of the short skirt. A gold bandeau encircled her head and she carried a small basket of sweetheart roses.

Miss Ann Smith, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Columbus, Ga., was ring bearer and bore the ring in the center of a large yellow chrysanthemum. Her charming little frock was of pale blue chiffon veiling flesh silk and she wore a narrow bandeau of silver ribbon and French flowers.

Lovely Bride.
The lovely young bride entered with her father, William Thomas Buchanan, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Hubert Martin, of Ozark, Ala. She wore a handsome gown of white chiffon combined with rose point lace over lustrous white satin. The entire skirt was fashioned of wide bands of lace and chiffon alternating, while a panel of the lace extended from the top of the bodice to the end of the skirt. A bertha of the lace outlined the bateau neckline, while delicate fluffy white ostrich feathers were used in three rows around the hem of the skirt. A court train of heavy white satin was held to her shoulders with exquisite pearl ornaments and fell in graceful length. Her wedding veil of misty tulle was held to her hair with a coronet of rose point lace and orange blossoms and fell loose in the back to the end of the train. She carried a large bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Pretty Costumes.
Mrs. Buchanan, the bride's mother, wore a handsome gown of black and green sequins with a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Al Tate, sister of the bride, was gowned in a robe of white sequins and wore a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Hubert Martin, of Ozark, Ala., the groom's sister, wore a costume of French blue crepe with a corsage bouquet of Ophelia rosebuds.

Mrs. J. F. Buchanan, grandmother of the bride, wore a gown of black Canton crepe with a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. W. F. Buchanan wore an attractive gown of ciel blue crepe elaborately beaded in cut steel.

Mr. Towles and his bride left during the evening for a wedding journey to Florida. They will be at home after December 1 at their apartment, 531 Highland avenue.

Mrs. Towles traveled in a smart ensemble costume of navy blue point twill trimmed in narrow tailored bands of henna cloth. Brown fox fur trimmed the coat and a close-fitting hat of dark blue velvet ornamented with pastel shaded flowers completed the stylish costume.

Mrs. Towles is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Buchanan, of this city. She is a sister of Mrs. A. R. Tate, Mrs. Hugh Crossett, Williams, Ernest and C. W. Buchanan.

The bride is an attractive young woman with a gracious personality which has won for her a host of friends.

She attended the Girls' High school and was a popular member of the graduating class last June from Miss Woodberry's school.

She is a gifted singer, and for the past four years has studied voice under Miss Margaret Hecht. She has contributed a most generous share to Atlanta's musical life with her sweet soprano voice.

Mr. Towles is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Towles, of Ozark, Ala. For the past five years he has made his home in Atlanta, holding a responsible position with the Southern Bell Telephone company.

He is a graduate of the Ozark High school, also having attended the Georgia School of Technology. Mr. Towles is a member of the Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity and the junior chamber of commerce.

Brief Helps.
One pound of coffee should serve fifty people.
Store canned fruits and vegetables in a cool, dark place.
Pears are mighty good cored and baked as you would apples.
Gasoline for cleaning purposes can be used again if strained through a paper filter after using.
When paper sticks to your highly-polished table, soften with olive oil and rub with a soft cloth.

Comedy To Be Given At Agnes Scott.

On Saturday evening, November 8, at 8:15 o'clock, the day students of Agnes Scott will give a musical comedy in the college chapel to raise money for the cottage building fund.

For the last few years the only students at Agnes Scott have worked to raise $3,000, the amount necessary for the building of a day student cottage. This cottage is to be made of brick and to consist of a large club room and some bedrooms for the use of the day students. Half of this amount has already been obtained by such means as selling old newspapers and magazines, collecting tin foil, selling candy, clipping necks and collecting subscriptions from members of the college community.

The musical comedy, "Striving for It," written by Mary Lynes and directed by Mary Lynes, both of whom are Atlanta girls and are especially talented in dramatic work, is expected to furnish a most delightful entertainment.

The theme of the musical comedy is to show that the flapper of today with bobbed hair, of yesterday with bustles, and of the day before yesterday with hooped skirts, is the very same.

Those taking part in the play will be Frances Chambers, Mary Palmer Caldwell, Katherine Johnson, Rosalie Wooten, Stella Pittman, Elizabeth McCallie, Louise Smith, Isabelle Clarke, Virginia Hollingsworth, Juanita Greer, Caroline McKinney, Martha Crowe, Louis Bolles.

Tre admission will be 25 cents, or 35 cents for reserved seats.

BEAUTY CHATS

MY BEAUTY RECIPE

By ROSITA FORBES, As Told to Diana Dare

THE COMPLEXION AT BED TIME.

No woman who values her appearance will ever go to sleep at night without giving her complexion some sort of treatment to make it perfectly clean. It may be only washing with soap and hot water, or it may be more elaborate massage with cold cream and astringents. Whatever it is, it must leave the skin absolutely clean, free not only from dust but from every trace of powder or rouge. It should also leave the skin feeling tingly and fresh.

Women who have nothing to do usually give themselves beauty treatments in the morning as they dress. It is an ideal plan and save time when bath, massage, manicure and scalp rub all take place together. The housewife will find that a bath and a little fussing over herself when she has completed her morning's work will not take up as much of her time as she imagines, and will make her look and feel so well that she will be more than repaid for the three-quarters of an hour it will use up.

But the business girl must save up all her beauty treatments for bedtime unless she can work them in hastily between her arrival tired from the office, and her dinner. But even if the face is massaged with cream before dinner, by bed time it will be dirty enough to need another cleansing. If you do not believe it, rub over the face with a piece of cheesecloth and see how discolored it is when you have done.

This is a good general treatment. Rub the skin with cleansing cream, using a generous amount and getting into all the pores, especially around the nose. Rub more cream under the chin and spread it over the neck, working it well down over the shoulders. Take still more of the cream and rub thoroughly into the elbows, around and under the fingers, and finally rub the hands quickly with a small amount of fresh cream. Wash all this off in a basin of quite hot water with plenty of soap. Rub the skin vigorously with a Turkish towel. Clean the nails, using a bleach if necessary. Use cream will keep them from getting too dry.

Mrs. M. F. B. V. McC. C.—I will be glad to make you a prescription not space to cover the subject in a reply, though in the columns. Generally speaking, the foods that cause fat are the starchy and oily foods, and those in which there is much sugar. When requesting a mailed reply, include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you had done this in the spring when you were convalescing, your hair would not be falling out now. You should get rid of all that weakened hair now by cutting it, and have a specialist watch the condition of your scalp to hasten its improvement.

A daily massage of your scalp by yourself will also help a great deal as it will increase the circulation, and that always increases the growth of new hair.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, must be included with the question.—The Editor.

Rosita Forbes, woman explorer, who kills lions and meets barbarous people without fear or difficulty, said: "The women in the western countries are beautiful in a way entirely different from the women in the east."

"The whole life of civilization is against beauty. It cramps it, it touches it up. In civilized countries it is almost impossible to stay beautiful. The rushed hours, the customs, the constant worries are all against it. The most beautiful woman I ever saw was in a harem in Damascus."

Mrs. Forbes has traveled to many of the far spots of the globe and in some places most of us have not even heard of.

"This woman," she continued, "was simply beautiful. She was all slipping lines. Her lines began at her head and slipped down off her neck, off her shoulders, off her loins. Every line looked as if it had been carved by a sculptor. I thought it a shame her beauty should be hidden away there for only one man to see. This woman was content to occupy herself with being beautiful, with living the natural life of woman."

"Here in the western countries where we cannot acquire this sort of beauty, where we cannot take baths in oils and herbs and dance in the moonlight, I have the beauty of power and alertness, of perfect health, of a perfectly balanced body."

"To me in the eastern countries," said Rosita Forbes, with her slender body reposing on a sofa and her eyes all the alert quality of one ready to spring upon a tiger, "beauty is the hallmark of efficiency! Here nothing inefficient about a woman would ever be seen. A feeble woman on a sofa displeases me."

ROSITA FORBES
"Primitive beauty diminishes; civilized beauty increases with time and acquaintance."

ture. In the west we have much more color than in the east. We have gray eyes, blue eyes, green eyes, hazel eyes, brown eyes, black eyes. In the east they have only black eyes. But they have perfectly chiseled, perfectly molded faces, which we have lost in the rush and worry.

"I would say, then, that the woman in the east is beautiful on sight, but that their beauty diminishes after acquaintance with their talk, versatility and charm."

I looked at Rosita Forbes, considered one of the most beautiful women in England and having hands considered the most beautiful in the world. (Her husband saw her hand outstretched on the coat of her dancing partner one evening and asked to meet the owner of those hands—thus her romance began.) I looked at her quizzically and said, "How do you do it?" There is an ease, a panther-like springiness about her body, a glimpse of primitive peoples combined with the dramatic delights and charm of civilized people in her personality.

"My business is exploring, not making myself beautiful," she said. "May be my work leaves traces on my person. I don't know."

She departed in a great necessity of speediness without having given me the least feeling of hurry. Tomorrow—Ann Pennington, dancer. (Copyright, 1924, by The Constitution.)

Women in Business

PART V.
BY JULIA HOYT.

The enormous number of automobiles in America has made tea rooms a safe venture.

(Copyright, 1924, in U. S. and Canada by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

Lunch and tea rooms are both remunerative and amusing to run, and they are popular both in the country and in the city. The enormous number of automobiles in America has made them a very important part of the life of the country. Their advantage is that whether they are run simply or elaborately, they can be equally attractive.

For instance, I know of a tea room in New York that is run entirely by a mother and daughter. The place is small, but though very simple is amazingly charming. There is one room in an old basement, with a fireplace, two windows and two doors; one the entrance, the other leading back to the kitchen and little pantry. The windows are made inviting and charming from the outside as well as the inside, by pots of flowers and delightful old patchwork curtains. The fireplace, with its old pots and pans and fire irons, begs one to come in and sit down. The tables have quaint checked covers.

The whole place radiates intimacy and personality. The landlady, a charming person, waits on the table, and if some of her friends are there and she hasn't much to do, will play a little and sing. The mother does the cooking (simple but very good), and anyone who has been there more than once will want to go back to the kitchen and chat with her. It is without doubt one of the most charming places I have ever been in, and yet the outfit is small and no pretense of any kind is ever made. But there is taste and individuality and these two things will invariably make a place for themselves.

Many people who run tea or lunch places in the country have a shop in connection with them. How financially successful these are I cannot say. I suppose they might work two ways. Either the shop attracts people, who then stop and have something to eat, or they originally stop to eat and then perhaps buy something. However, I would say that generally it is better to concentrate on one or the other. A really good tea or lunch room needs nothing added to it and vice versa. As a rule, the shops connected with lunch rooms are pretty poor things.

I heard the other day of a woman, who has built up an enormously successful business, that of teaching women to run tea and lunch rooms. She learned the art originally by running a successful one herself; in fact, is running three at the present moment. She then decided to impart to others the knowledge she had gained through experience. She does this now either by a correspondence course of twelve lessons, or by classes in New York.

There are a number of advantages to a tea or lunch room as a business. In the first place, it can be run in your own house, if you must be home with your family; in the second place, it is no handicap provided you are energetic. The decorations need not cost only a very small expenditure of money, as the simple thing in the tea room is what attracts. This is a business that is open to everyone and is one of the safest ventures I know of.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Sleep Inducers.
It is very difficult for some people to go to sleep readily and sometimes just a tiny trick will help a great deal. Try drinking a glass of hot milk before retiring. A thin slice of bread and butter sprinkled with a little cayenne pepper eaten before going to bed will induce sleep. Pine needle pillows also have a soothing effect on some people. Perhaps the best of all is plenty of fresh air in the sleeping room and a genuine effort to relax every muscle of the body and make the mind a blank.

How oft against the sunset sky or moon

I watched that moving zigzag of spread wings

In unforgotten Autumn's gone too soon,

In unforgotten Springs! Creatures of desolation, far they fly Above all lands bound by the curling foam;

In misty fens, wild moors and trackless sky

These wild things have their home. They know the tundra of Siberian coasts. And tropic marshes by the Indian seas; They know the clouds and night and starry hosts From Crux to Pleiades. Dark flying rune against the western sky. It tells the sweep and loneliness of things. Symbol of Autumn's vanished long ago, and a genuine effort to relax every muscle of the body and make the mind a blank.

SYNOPSIS

Mrs. Morgan Schuyler, one of New York's leading philanthropic and social lights, is a young woman who works in her apartment mornings. The advertisement is answered by a girl evidently of birth and breeding. In spite of the fact that she admits a desire to hide her identity, Mrs. Schuyler accepts her on trust and tags her with the name of Hope Emerson.

Mrs. Schuyler's family consists of her mother, Mrs. Van Dorn; a young brother, Jim Van Dorn, and an older brother, Bertie, who is away.

The second morning of her employment Hope fails after receiving a mysterious telephone call. Mrs. Schuyler summons Dr. Horace Osborne. Hope tells the doctor she is employed during the afternoon hours on East 70th street. He offers to drive her there and by a strange coincidence has an appointment at the house where Hope is employed. The patient is a boy of five years about whom the entire household mysteriously revolves: the closest guardian is an uncle named Scarwenka. All of the members of this household are foreigners except Hope, who is known as Sonia. A day or two later a visitor, Colonel Van Nansen, a man of obvious importance, calls at the 70th street house. Hope distrusts him, and leaves Scarwenka does also. Van Nansen tells Scarwenka he is going to take the boy away that night. Hope decides to call on Dr. Osborne for help. He accompanies her to the house, where the two conspirators find Van Nansen there before them. By a trick the Colonel locks Hope and the doctor in the room with the child. They escape through a window, and take the child to a hospital.

The next morning Sally Wallis calls on Hope at the Schuylers. She tells the secretary about her hopeless love affair. The man in the case has just returned to New York after a long absence, and Sally learns he is ill in a sanitarium and facing a serious operation. Hope enlists the aid of Jim Van Dorn on Sally's behalf. He admits he loves Sally, and promises to keep his eye on her.

Later in the day Hope finds Colonel Vassili installed at the Scarwenkas, and learns that all the members of the household are leaving the country that night. The boy, Alexander, presents Hope with a valuable ring, and Vassili tells the girl that the child is destined to rule over a small European country.

INSTALLMENT XLVIII.

Farwell!

Another short silence lay between Hope and Vassili. "I do not know what the future will bring," the Colonel ended with a

"Am I not to say good-by to him?"

sigh. "It is perhaps too much to hope for peace and tranquility in our unhappy little land. But at least the boy will have his chance in his country, so small, so unimportant a country to others! Still, it is the land of his race and they have ruled it for many years. It is his duty to be there, whatever happens. Is it not so, mademoiselle?"

Hope murmured that no doubt it was so. She was still bewildered, still rather inclined to think she was having a fantastic dream. Vassili's manner changed.

"And now, mademoiselle, you realize how wholly we trust you. We have told you all we can. We will close the little business matter as well. You were to be with us two months longer. Two years' salary to end that contract, shall we say?"

He counted out the money in new bank notes, without waiting for her reply.

"And again our gratitude. Later you will know more about us. If, at any time, you need friends, you will know where to find them."

As if the final words were his cue Osborne imperiously rang the doorbell. Scarwenka must have had his orders, for the next moment the swift footsteps of the doctor came down the hall to the study. He knocked, and opened the door without waiting for a response.

Vassili grooved and cordially shook hands with him. He was still holding a packet of new bank notes, after paying Hope, and now courteously but briefly he discharged the indebtedness to the American physician. Trunks bumped down the stairs. The atmosphere of the house was suddenly one of preparation for departure. By morning it would be merely an empty, shining shell.

Hope and the physician had exchanged conventional greetings. She realized that the explanation made to her was not to be passed on to Osborne, and she spoke impulsively.

"Colonel, if it is permitted, I should like some time to tell Doctor Osborne what you have just told me. May I do that?"

"In three weeks, yes," Vassili smiled benignly. "In three weeks you may tell any one you please. And now we will say good-by. We are going on board our boat tonight, and we shall sail before twelve."

"Does that mean a sea voyage?" Osborne bluntly asked. "It's a rather bad season" is the youngest up to it?"

"On your yacht, yes. He will have every care. Doctor Phelps and our excellent hospital nurse go with us. You will understand when his lady gives you the explanation she has suggested."

He held out both hands.

"Good-by, mademoiselle. May life be as kind to you as you are to others."

"But Alexander? Am I not to say good-by to him?"

Vassili hesitated.

"If you wish it, yes. But is not the moment of the gift a pleasanter memory? Would it not perhaps be wiser?"

She understood.

"Perhaps it would."

A series of howls made her turn toward the window. Through it she beheld Alexander, still in his red bathrobe, being hauled from the garden by Adela, who was almost unrecognizable in a neat traveling costume. With intervals for deep restoring breaths, the infant continued to broadcast his emotions while he kicked hard at the thick ankles revealed by the nurse's short traveling skirt. His little nose needed attention.

Hope shut her eyes for a moment to keep back a rush of tears. When she looked again the garden was empty; but from the basement there still ascended the megaphonic protests of the outraged descendant of a royal line, mingled with a sympathetic barking of his excited puppy.

Hope was glad she was going out to dinner that evening. The little expedition would divert her mind, and certainly her mind needed diversion. She bade Vassili goodspeed, and made her preparations for a final departure from the East Seventieth street house, while the two men watched her and exchanged conversational commonplaces.

If royal personages are as ungrateful as they are reported to be, Vassili's attitude toward Osborne was proof of his fitness for the role of mentor to a child ruler. He practically ignored the physician's important part in the episode of the night before, evidently accepting it as all in the day's work; and he paid the doctor precisely what he asked, without even an appreciative word as additional compensation.

It was equally clear that Osborne accepted the other's attitude simply and naturally. What he had done had been done for Miss Emerson and for the boy. He had not in the least considered the interests of the plump person labeled Count Vassili; and if that gentleman had suddenly become expansive and grateful, Osborne would have been as much annoyed as surprised. He tossed an occasional sentence to the forger and kept his eye on Hope. His mind, however, was really on neither of them, and Hope had realized as soon as she saw him that he was both preoccupied and disturbed.

However, she was always worth watching, Osborne told himself, even when, as now, she was merely putting on her hat and coat, dropping an impressive package of bank notes into her handbag, tearing up a few bits of paper, and shaking hands with Scarwenka and his wife in the outer hall. The Scarwenka woman, vastly improved in appearance by well fitting tailor-made garments and a fur neckpiece which she had donned somewhat prematurely, rather overwhelmed Hope by weeping during the parting. Hope knew the tears were merely those of hysterical relief over the near prospect of a return to the woman's native land, but not even that softening emotion brought the smoldering Adela downstairs for farewell amenities. Hope wondered where all the unfamiliar clothes came from, till she saw piles of trunks now stacked in the lower hall and waiting for darkness. Then she knew for a certainty what she had suspected all along—that there were excellent garments in plenty for the Tartar and his household, but that his retinue had been too indolent and too careless to put them on him or on themselves. Vassili was not like that. He had spoken the words that led to the personal transformations, and he had ordered the house cleaned and left in proper condition for its next tenants. From now on, under his eyes, the Tartar would present an outward aspect better fitting his station in life. With a twitch of the lips and a tug at her heartstrings she hoped it might include an inexhaustible supply of small handkerchiefs.

On the sidewalk Osborne took her arm and led her toward the curb, while the limousine, waiting a little further down the block, impressively buzzed toward them. Hope reflected that Osborne's limousine followed him around very much as Buster had followed his young master, and now, as if to deepen the resemblance, it barked, quite unnecessarily, as it stopped for the last time before the East Seventieth street house. The doctor put her into it before she could protest.

"You haven't a thing to do," he dictatorial informed her, "and you know it. You've unexpectedly got the whole afternoon off, so come with me while I make two short calls. Then I'll have an hour on my hands and I'll take you for a spin in the park. It will do me good, too."

He added, passing a tired hand across a corrugated brow. In the watches of the night before Osborne had made a discovery. He was caught, firmly and permanently, and already he was accepting the fact of his captivity with a fine philosophy under which his former rather haphazard notions of life and love were crumbling. How wrong he had been about almost everything! The reflection was the twin of a humility rare in him.

THE SECRET.
By Florence Hartman Townsend.
I built a mighty stronghold
And placed my heart therein;
There came a knight in armor
Who thought my heart to win.
He charged the stronghold fiercely
And sought to break the wall;
So strong he waged the battle
The stronghold could but fall.
But—hiss!—this is the secret—
He thinks he did it all.
But I, behind the rampart,
Made this place in the wall!

Selfish.
Mrs. North: "Why didn't you come to the Better Babies conference?"
Mrs. West: "I was too busy."
Mrs. North: "What! Too busy to help in such a cause?"
Mrs. West: "Yes! I had to stay at home and take care of the baby."
—Mrs. Carl Lewin.

Really Forgot.
Fred: "But you told me last week you loved me!"
Mabel: "Oh, was it you I told that to?"
—Thomas Flynt.

The Sign.
Watkins was walking down our main street when he saw a stranger coming toward him with outstretched hand and a smile of recognition on his face.
"Well, hello there, old top!" exclaimed the stranger, gentleman, when they met. "It certainly has been a long time since I saw you. But you haven't changed any. How are all the folks and everything?"
Watkins, however, was not impressed by the man's effusive greeting.
"That's a good line you have," he replied bitingly, "but you can't put it over on me. Now will you move on up the street, or shall I call an officer?"

The man, chagrined, walked away immediately. Watkins started on, then turned suddenly and called to the sharper:

"Wait a minute; I want to ask you something."
"What is it?" he demanded, suspicious.

"I always thought I was rather sophisticated," Watkins said, "and I even thought I looked the part. But now I don't know. Tell me, what was it about my appearance that made you think you could work that old game on me?"

The sharper grinned.
"Well," he replied, "I saw you were wearing rubbers."

And not only to write it legibly, and with typewriter or ink, but to mail it in time so your envelope can reach us in Monday's mail. Let's break the record!

Natural Inference.

"Let me see," murmured the young wife at her writing desk. "I want the parlor papered and I must have new shades. The dining-room chandelier is very shabby and must be replaced. The bathroom needs new tiling. I'd like a new gas range and built-in-refrigerator."

"To whom are you writing, dear?" asked her girl.

"To our landlord."

"I thought maybe you were writing to Santa Claus."

4 BOYS CONFESS KILLING COMRADE

New York, November 7.—The body of Ernest Schwer, Jr., 13, who disappeared from his Brooklyn home 10 days ago, was found buried in Richmond Hill, Long Island, by detectives tonight, who said they were led to the spot by four boys who confessed to the murder of the youth.

Police did not reveal the identity of the four boys alleged to have confessed.

Young Schwer was last seen when he went to attend to some muskrat traps with four companions in a swamp near his home. The other boys later told police that Schwer had left them and started for home.

Search for the missing boy had been continued since the day of his disappearance by firemen, Boy Scouts and friends, in addition to police and detectives.

FABRY AND RICHPIN WIN OSIRIS PRIZES

Paris, November 7.—Thanks to the judicious investment of capital, the committee charged with proposing to the French institute a candidate for the triennial Osiris prize, given for the most remarkable discovery or work in science, literature, art or industry, has found 275,000 francs available instead of the stipulated 100,000.

Consequently it is proposed to give two prizes of 100,000 francs each, the recipients to be Professor Charles Fabry, eminent physicist, of Paris university, and Jean Richpin, the poet.

The prize will be given to Professor Fabry for his invention of the interferometer which enables light interference to be used for the study of the stars.

The award is usually given for a specific achievement, but since no special reasons are mentioned in the attribution to M. Richpin, it is accepted in the case that the reward is recognition of his position in the literary world. This is the first time the prize has gone to a poet.

Crime "Regatta" Curdles Pride in Coppers' Chests

Chicago, Ill., November 7.—While the police department was throwing out its chest in honest pride because the criminal gentry apparently would not stage their annual fall carnival of crime this year, the event, making up for its belated debut, started off Wednesday with a murder, several sluggings, and a long string of petty crime.

In the spotlight was the passing of Angelo Barbas, the olive-complexioned murderer of "King" George Zoroukas. Barbas shot the former head of the Chicago Greek colony more than a year ago, but kept out of prison because of the cleverness of his lawyers.

Today Mr. Barbas was made the recipient of eleven halls of lead as he stood in the doorway of his cage.

"King's" Faction Gets Even.

Over at the Halstead police station they said "the king's faction is sore because Angelo isn't doing time." Simultaneously with the arrival of Angelo's body at the morgue, the police pushed 36 Greeks into jail cells.

Discussion of plans to give financial aid to Georgia peach growers and to have a law passed at the next session of the legislature by which shipment of peaches, not up to the standard, would be made illegal, will be chief features of a meeting of a committee of business men, bankers and peach growers of the state to be held Friday, November 14, at the Ritz-Carlton hotel. The program will mark the first step taken in the new program of reorganization of the state's peach industry.

The business session will be held in the afternoon, followed by a dinner given by the Presidents' club of Atlanta, at the hotel.

Principal speakers at the afternoon session will be Warren Grice, of Macon; T. R. Turner, of Macon, and A. J. Davis, of Fort Valley.

At a recent meeting of peach growers held in Macon, a state-wide committee of bankers and peach growers was elected to consider means for substantial development of the peach industry. The following are members of the committee:

W. E. Baker, president of the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation; T. R. Glenn, president of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank; T. R. Turner, president of the Bibb National bank; Macon; C. B. Lewis, president of the Fourth National bank, Macon; A. E. Bird, Jr., cashier of the Citizens & Southern bank, Macon; C. E. May, Jr., vice president of the Citizens' bank, Fort Valley; A. J. Evans, Fort Valley; Ed. McKenzie, Montezuma; E. B. Murphy, Marietta; J. M. Betts, Woodbury; Warren Grice, Macon; J. L. Benton, Monticello; W. C. Bewley and Ray K. Daniel.

RED CROSS ROLL-CALL PROCLAMATION ISSUED

Governor Clifford Walker Friday issued a proclamation, formally designating the period from Armistice day to Thanksgiving day as the time of the American Red Cross roll-call or membership campaign in Georgia.

From southern headquarters of the Red Cross here Friday came the announcement that 102 Georgia communities would conduct membership campaigns during the period named, and that 600 cities of the south will also participate in the roll-call.

The proclamation of Governor Walker says in part:

"In rehabilitating 5,200 disaster victims in the south this year, caring for the sick and diseased in 130,000 homes, and in many other ways giving assistance to those in need, the Red Cross has performed a service that elicits our praise and merits our support. Every citizen of Georgia is urged to answer this call to service."

PRINCE OF SIAM HERE TO STUDY AT HARVARD

Seattle, Wash., November 6.—Prince Sirivajvongse Kijakara, great-grandson of a former king of Siam and son of Phya Srikrakara, lord chamberlain of Siam, arrived yesterday aboard the steamship President Jefferson from the far east with Dr. Francis B. Sayre, advisor in foreign affairs for the United States government, and a son-in-law of the late President Woodrow Wilson.

Prince Kijakara has made a study of mechanics and engineering and is en route to enter Harvard university. Dr. Sayre is bound for European capitals on a diplomatic mission for the king of Siam, who according to Dr. Sayre is seeking to end traffic in opium through his country. Dr. Sayre said he aims to effect new treaties with Great Britain, France, Italy and some other countries.

POLICE OF NEW YORK FIX NEW DEAD LINE

New York, November 7.—Establishment of a new police deadline including the leading shopping districts of the city and assignment of 100 extra policemen to guard Fifth avenue were announced today by the police department to protect shoppers and merchants during the Christmas shopping period.

The new deadline, similar to the one that has long existed about the Maiden Lane jewelry district, will go into effect Monday.

It will extend from Fourth to Sixth street and from Third to Seventh avenues. An extra force of detectives also has been assigned to the Maiden Lane and Wall street district. Brooklyn likewise will be specially protected.

FARMERS OF LAURENS WILL GROW TOBACCO

Dublin, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Laurens county farmers have definitely determined upon a tobacco crop for 1925, during the past week employing Gordon Knox as agent and demonstrator and he will arrive here soon to assume his duties. Mr. Knox comes to this city from Hazelhurst in the center of Georgia's growing tobacco industry, and has had five years' experience in this work.

He will assist in securing proper seed, planting the seed bed, preparation of the soil, fertilization, transplanting, cultivation, harvesting, curing and selling.

Jeff Davis county has been growing tobacco for six years, and Hazelhurst has a market with two warehouses and a redrying plant. In securing the services of Mr. Knox the local committee feels that they can save our farmers this loss, for it was he who has made the tobacco industry in that county a success.

other shootings before sundown." It was explained.

Three warehouse watchmen and a workman, who made the mistake of walking by the building at the time, were made the victims of a slugging party early Wednesday. Despite the fact that the slugging bandits had loaded two automobiles with $2,000 worth of merchandise, they lingered in the building long enough to beat the three men so severely that two of them are near death.

"Squealer" Paid Back.

Stephen Sobieski, a 17-year-old "boy bandit," was doing his stuff at a garage safe when discovered by three policemen. A battle ensued with Stephen coming off with second honors. He's in the hospital.

Jacobs Vix, who caused the arrest of several Halloween celebrants, went down to work to discover that the entrance to his furniture store had been reduced to splinters with a bomb.

To round off the initial day of the carnival, the police reported a record number of hold-ups, pickpocket parties, and burglaries.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 7.—(By The Associated Press.)—Chief executives and representatives of 20 railroad brotherhoods and affiliated organizations will meet here tomorrow morning to discuss the Howells-Barkley bill and to decide on their future course of action.

The bill seeks to abolish the railroad labor board. It is the first bill on the calendar when congress reconvenes.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who, on October 24, issued the call for the meeting, today said he had received acceptances from practically all of the 20 organizations.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, wrote Mr. Stone he would send a representative.

Mr. Stone said the meeting would discuss all pending labor legislation in congress, particularly the Howells-Barkley bill, which was introduced in the house and senate last session.

Mr. Stone's call for the meeting follows:

"I am writing this to call your attention to the fact that the Howells-Barkley bill is the first bill on the calendar to be handled when congress reconvenes. I am, therefore, issuing a call to the executives of all affiliated railroad labor organizations to meet in Cleveland, November 8, to discuss the Howells-Barkley bill and decide on their future course of action. The meeting will convene at 10 a. m. in the auditorium of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers."

He said that if possible to do so, each executive should be present in person, but if unable to be present, a representative should be sent. He hoped that each organization addressed will be represented either by its chief executive or his representative.

"The Howells-Barkley bill is one of the most important bills before congress and we are all vitally interested in it. Please advise whether you will be present in person or send a representative."

(Signed) "WARREN S. STONE," Chairman.

The chief executives of the brotherhoods and affiliated organizations thought the adoption of the Howells-Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board and set up in its place legislation providing for arbitration in line with the old Newlands act. The bill creates a national board of mediation and conciliation composed only of public members and creates boards of adjustment composed of railroad managers and employees only, to handle grievance and interpret rules.

MISS D. B. ANDERSON AIDS DUBLIN MOTHERS

Dublin, Ga., November 7.—(Special.)—Miss D. B. Anderson, of the state board of health, arrived in the city this week and is stationed in the office of Dr. Ovid L. Cheek, county health officer. The state representative will give attention during a short stay here to health conditions for mothers and babies, and a general invitation has been issued to all interested to attend a series of meetings to be held during the coming week.

The welfare of the child life of the state is being studied by Miss Anderson, who comes to work with the entire district and to give information to mothers of this section in order to save the lives of babies and to make it possible for more of the children to live a life of normal length. Georgia loses thousands of babies each year as a result of ignorance of the laws of health.

Dr. Cheek has been working strenuously to see that school children of the county are vaccinated, and states that the demands for serum are heavy.

FIRST GENERAL SNOW FALLS IN NORTHWEST

St. Paul, Minn., November 7.—The first general snow of the season was reported over the northwest today. Temperatures below freezing accompanied the flakes in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The snow was expected to melt rapidly, however, as the weather bureau forecast rising temperatures for the district late today.

The liner Palmella docked at Hull, England, with her hold full of water. When it was pumped out it from a bottom plate and an oil had become wedged in the hole, stopping the leak.
